

MEXICAN PEOPLE ARE ANXIOUS FOR U. S. TO AFFORD RELIEF

PROPOSED INTERVENTION IS HAILED WITH JOY, ACCORDING TO OFFICIALS AT WASHINGTON. CONDITIONS FROM FAMINE ARE BECOMING INTOLERABLE.

STATEMENT WILL BE REVIEW

Will Recite History of War-Ridden Republic Since Killing of Madero. Addressed to Military Leaders, Citizens of Mexico and American Public. Direct Appeal Planned.

Washington, May 29.—Announcement that President Wilson would demand a settlement of the Mexican problem by the warring factions themselves within a short time, and failing that, adopt some means, not defined as yet, to bring about peace, has developed acute interest in official and diplomatic quarters as to the prospective action of the United States.

The president's appeal for funds and supplies to relieve the starving population of Mexico, the preparation at the white house of a statement to be communicated to all leaders in Mexico next Tuesday and arrangements of the American Red Cross for a huge relief scheme, are the first steps in a policy which, it became known today, President Wilson has had under consideration for some time with the object of restoring peace in Mexico.

Note to Review Conditions. The text of the president's forthcoming statement is an official secret, but from those who advised with him prior to its preparation, it is understood Mr. Wilson will address not only military leaders in Mexico, but the Mexican people, and at the same time the people of the United States. He will review in detail the course of the events in Mexico since the assassination of Madero and Saurez and the usurpation of the presidency by Huerta.

The announcement, it is said, will call attention to the fact that the United States government, by refusing to recognize Huerta, assisted in driving him out of power and expected from the Mexican revolutionaries the re-establishment of a government in Mexico. Nearly a year has passed since Huerta was compelled to resign, but the constitution, the statement will say, have failed in the meantime to restore order, conditions growing worse daily, with no faction apparently possessing the capacity to establish a government.

Situation Intolerable. In view of these conditions, according to reliable information, the statement will serve notice that as the situation has grown intolerable to foreigners and the Mexican people alike, the Mexican chiefs must arrange for an early solution of the problem. Unless this is forthcoming, it will be indicated to the military leaders in Mexico that some other means may have to be employed to assist the Mexican people. The president does not intend to specify this government's attitude.

Officials did not deny today that if the Mexican factions failed to compose the situation there was a possibility of intervention by the United States.

Several Weeks to Develop. The new phases in the Washington government's policy may take several weeks to develop. For the present efforts will be made to get food to the

PRZEMYSL BATTLE IS FEATURE OF THE WAR. TRY TO ENCIRCLE

RUSSIANS IN FURIOUS ATTACKS

Southeast Teutonic Allies Are Meeting With More Success, but Progress Is Slower Than That of a Few Days Ago—Heavy Fighting Is Reported in the Baltics.

London, May 29.—The battle for the fortress of Przemyśl, in the middle Galicia, remains the outstanding feature of the war.

There has been heavy fighting north of Arras, where the French continue to make progress, the Germans admitting tonight their evacuation of Albain. But this is a small affair compared with what is going on around Przemyśl.

The Germans and Austrians with an enormous weight of artillery, continue to fight desperately in an effort to encircle the fortress, already reported under bombardment. Their armies north of Przemyśl, however, have apparently received a check. The Russians, after driving them back across the San in the neighborhood of Sieniawa, have engaged forces which crossed the river to the north and south of Jaroslavl and have been delivering furious attacks. All of these the Austrians and Germans claim to have repulsed.

Southeast of Przemyśl the Teutonic allies are meeting with more success, but their progress is not so rapid as a few days ago and the communications to Lemberg, reported severed, are still intact.

At the other end of the line in the Baltic provinces, heavy fighting also continues with the fortunes ebbing and flowing. These operations, originally classed as a raid by Prussian military critics, are being more seriously considered and larger forces are being sent to meet the German invaders.

Except for their admission of the evacuation of Albain, which they say, was carried out without the knowledge of the French, the Germans claim to have repulsed all attacks along the western line. At the same time, it is made by the French, who also say they have made further progress, the situation does not seem to be much changed.

It is not expected the French will make any marked advance at any one time, for they are attacking strongly fortified forts, which have to be taken one by one in face of machine guns.

Intense fighting continues along the whole front of the Italo-Austrian frontier.

It is reported from Bucharest that important secret negotiations are under way between Rumania and Bulgaria.

German submarines are still busy around the British Isles, the latest victim being the British steamer Ethiope. Sixteen of her crew are missing.

National Treasurer W. C. T. U. Is Dead

Portland, Ore., May 29.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hutchinson of Winfield, Kas., national treasurer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, died here tonight. She came here to arrange the advertising of the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in this city last October.

Mrs. Hutchinson's headquarters were in Evanston, Ill.

Mart High School Annual. Mart, Tex., May 29.—The high school annual, "The Klama," is out and the school is very proud of it. This is the first annual the high school has attempted and has proven quite a success.

Attempted Jail Delivery at Dallas. Dallas, May 29.—The first attempt to break out of Dallas county's new $675,000 jail building was made today. Several juveniles tried to saw a hole in the ceiling.

DR. S. P. BROOKS TO RUN FOR THE SENATE

AUTHORIZES STATEMENT WILL MAKE RACE FOR CULBERSON VACANCY.

Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, will make the race for the United States senate. He authorized a statement yesterday that he had cast himself unreservedly into the race for the seat now held by Charles A. Culbertson and the indications are that he will make a state-wide and vigorous campaign for the nomination. Due to the fact that Dr. Brooks has contemplated this course for many months, his positive announcement of his candidacy is the occasion of no surprise.

His definite announcement gives Waco two candidates in the race, Congressman R. L. Henry having announced his positive candidacy sometime ago.

While Dr. Brooks has been active in the championing of political issues and the causes of various candidates, state and local, for several years, he has never before sought public office, though he has been frequently solicited to do so. His announcement of his candidacy for the senate follows:

"I hereby unreservedly announce myself a candidate for the United States senate to succeed the Hon. Chas. A. Culbertson. In offering myself for this exalted position, I do not claim any magic wand whereby I can help the congress make something for the people out of nothing. I, however, do hope to be of service to my fellowmen. This step is taken with due deliberation as to all of its consequences. At the proper time I will publish a platform of principles on all questions involved. Meantime, I invite the cooperation of my friends."

"S. P. BROOKS."

Farmer Arrested on Old Murder Charge

Dallas, Tex., May 29.—F. M. Bullington, a farmer living near Honey Grove, was under arrest here today on a warrant sworn out in connection with the killing of John Stroups in Dallas county thirty-two years ago. The man was located and arrested late yesterday, the sheriff's office having been working on the case several days. Further than to say he was not present when Stroups was killed, Bullington today refused to discuss the case. He is nearly 70 years of age.

Local records show an "F. M. Bullington" once was indicted for this killing, but that the indictment was dismissed in 1905. Records differ as to the exact Stroups killed.

Humphrey Returns From Liquor Probe

Austin, Tex., May 29.—R. B. Humphrey, chief liquor permit clerk, returned today from Beaumont where he has been taking testimony in three cases, where the proprietors of saloons are charged with having violated the liquor laws.

He said it would be several days before the testimony can be transferred and presented, when the controller will decide whether or not the license retail liquor dealers will be forbidden.

Jury Discusses Case and Three Are Fined

Galveston, Tex., May 29.—Three jurors, sitting in the case of John Heyen, charged with murder, were fined $100 each today and three days in jail was assessed against them. Heyen, charged with murder, was arrested here today. The jury was for discussing forbidden points in the jury room. The three jurors were Alex Lewis, A. H. Henck and August Margot.

Belton Sends Veterans.

Belton, Tex., May 29.—Commander W. W. Upshaw of Bell county camp United Confederate Veterans and J. C. Taylor of this city will represent the camp as delegates at the Confederate reunion to be held at Richmond, Va., during the coming week, and will be joined at Temple by a delegation of ex-Confederates from that city and other places in Bell county. They will all vote for the next convention to come to Texas.

Father Heckman a Delegate.

Temple, Tex., May 29.—Rev. Father P. Heckman, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church of Temple has received an appointment from Governor Ferguson as a representative from Texas to the Ninth International Purification Congress, to be held at San Francisco July 18-24 and the appointment has been accepted with the intention of the honoree being in attendance upon the sessions of the congress.

Bobby Wallace Released.

St. Louis, May 29.—Rhoderick "Bobby" Wallace, who has played in the major baseball leagues for twenty years, was released unconditionally by the St. Louis Americans, for whom he played shortstop.

THE RYNDAM

In the accompanying illustration are shown two ships which met with disaster at sea. The American steamer Nebraskan from Liverpool May 24, for the Delaware breakwater, was torpedoed off the coast of Ireland. Early reports indicated that she was not seriously damaged and that her crew had been saved. The Holland-America liner Ryndam, with 77 passengers, which sailed from New York to Rotterdam, was rammed off Nantucket by the fruit freighter Joseph J. Cuneo. The crash came in a heavy fog. No lives were lost.

T. P. & L. TO EXPEND A MILLION AND A HALF

WILL EXTEND HIGH POWER LINES FROM THE WACO PLANT SOUTH.

New Power Stations in Several Places. Master Plant on Red River.

Dallas, Tex., May 29.—One of the biggest electrical developments ever projected in Texas was learned of this morning when it became known that the Texas Power & Light company had acquired franchises and would build high-power transmission lines into new territory from their plant at Waco, south to Temple, Taylor and Thrall, a distance of more than seventy miles, at a cost of nearly one million, five hundred thousand dollars; that the company would proceed at once to build a master power plant on a site acquired on Red river, five miles outside of Denison, which would supply the entire northeast territory of the company. This plant to be modeled directly after the million-dollar power plant in Waco; the purchasing and building in the northeastern territory of the company a greater number of smaller power stations—in fact, some having already been purchased—at an expenditure of sums ranging from $25,000 to $50,000, each, which would develop a "load" for the Red river plant. The company will maintain over their entire circuit, when completed, a twenty-four hour service for both city and rural districts, making the most complete system of electric service in the south.

Prison Probe Five Hold First Meeting

Austin, Tex., May 29.—The state prison probe committee composed of five members of the senate held its first meeting today and elected W. V. Howerton to be secretary of the committee. Mr. Howerton is secretary of the senate. The committee decided that three of its members shall remain here during next week and two shall commence at once the investigation. But it has not as yet been announced when those two members shall commence their task. On next Monday week, the entire committee will start out together. The committee will start six days in which to make the investigation. A stenographer is yet to be named by the committee.

Protests From Roads on Tax Valuation

Austin, Tex., May 29.—Protests are being received from the railroads of the state by the state tax board against the preliminary valuations of intangible assets of the railroads. The board will meet on June 3, and give a hearing to the protestants before making the preliminary figures permanent. The total intangible assets of the railroads as fixed in the preliminary calculations amounts to $173,500,368 which is an increase of $9,088,375 over the previous year.

Land Sales for Month of May Are Reported

TENSION INCREASED BY REPLY OF GERMANY TO THE U. S. NOTE

Official Text Not Made Public, but It Holds Out No Promise That American Lives Will Be Safeguarded on Seas—Washington Disappointed Over Noncommittal Note.

GERMANY DENIES NEBRASKAN ATTACK

Holds Vessel Struck Mine—Preponderance of Evidence Shows Was Torpedoed, and Allies' Submarines Have Not Attacked Merchantmen—Believed Note Will Simply Express Regret at Loss of American Lives.

Washington, May 29.—Until the official text of the German reply to the American note concerning violations of neutral rights in the war zone is received, probably tomorrow, President Wilson will reserve comment.

This word came from the white house tonight after press dispatches outlining the German note were received.

It was known, however, that the United States government was prepared to controvert every one of the points mentioned in the summary of the German position as published here. The press outlines conform with American dispatches of the German note, the last few days forecasting the nature of the German reply.

Evidence of an indisputable character was gathered by the Washington government prior to the sending of the note of May 13, to prove that the Lusitania carried no guns, either mounted or unmounted; that she carried no explosives within the meaning of the American statutes and that no British vessels have cleared from American ports for several months carrying guns of any character.

The British ambassador here is preparing to transmit assurances from the British government that the Lusitania was not armed and that she could not be carried on the navy lists as an auxiliary cruiser unless she was armed and commissioned, the latter change from a peaceful merchantman to an auxiliary cruiser being possible, according to British practice, only in home ports.

U. S. Does Not Agree. The United States, moreover, holds that the carrying of arms and ammunition or any other contraband or a few unarmed individuals who might be prospective soldiers does not destroy the peaceful character of the law and humanity of the belligerent merchantmen to be visited and searched before being destroyed and the neutral or non-combatant passengers transferred to a place of safety.

While the exact phrasing of the German reply is awaited with much interest, there was a feeling of pessimism in many quarters over the reported evasion of President Wilson's demand for reparation for the loss of more than 100 American lives and guarantees that submarine warfare would be so conducted in the future as to safeguard American lives and vessels.

A grave factor has been added to the situation by the finding of the American commission appointed by Ambassador Page that the American steamer Nebraskan was torpedoed by a submarine.

In German quarters the claim was persistent that the vessel struck a mine.

Inasmuch as submarines of the allied powers have not attacked merchantmen, the presumption of official circles in Germany is that an investigation of the attack on the Lusitania—that a German submarine was responsible—and an inquiry to the German foreign office for its report on the case is expected.

Tension Is Increased. The preponderance of evidence showing an attack on the Nebraskan, admittedly increased the tension in relations with Germany. In German quarters it was suggested that if the ship was attacked by a German submarine, the commander may have been away from his base too long to learn of the new developments and the precautions to be taken with respect to neutral ships. The fact that the Nebraskan had hauled down her flag at dark was also mentioned as a possible reason for suspecting she was an enemy vessel, although Captain Green, in his affidavit, declares the name of his ship was painted on her sides in letters six feet high and that it was possible for a submarine commander to see the ship.

The action of the German government department received from Ambassador Gerard today a circular issued by the German government warning neutral vessels to keep their names illuminated at night and to bear as many distinguishing marks as possible because of the possibility of mistaken attacks.

Secretary Bryan declined to comment on the German note. While officials did not care to comment on the German reply until they had read the text, the forecast of its contents was looked upon in well informed quarters as not difficult to answer because the American government had made a careful investigation of the facts in the case before sending the note.

No American Law Violated. The carrying of arms and ammunition is not contrary to American law, as the German reports claim, federal statutes forbidding the export of transportation of self-exploding material, from which class official ruling many years excluded fixed ammunition.

Germany's contention that it is impossible to settle the question of whether proper opportunity was given the passengers to escape until it is determined whether the Lusitania was equipped with the lifeboats and appliances provided for in regulations adopted after the Titanic sinking, was looked upon in official quarters as irrelevant because it was pointed out the torpedoing of the Lusitania without a moment's warning made it impossible to launch such lifeboats as the ship did carry.

Pro mthe brief outline, it was not believed the German note went beyond the circular of May 11, which promised to express regrets and make reparations for mistaken attacks on neutral vessels. In the American note of May 13, it was pointed out that such promises did not remove the dangers to which Americans and their vessels were subjected. The absence in the forthcoming note of any promise to safeguard American lives on unarmed merchantmen of any nationality and the failure to disavow intention to destroy American lives on the Lusitania produced a feeling of disappointment in many quarters.

Speculation was widespread as to the Washington government's course. It was believed the German note would be promptly answered with a statement of facts as understood by the United States and a reiteration of the demand for reparation for past events and guarantees as to the future. This prediction was based, however, on no comment from the white house, but on the general trend of comment among officials familiar with President Wilson's viewpoint as expressed on previous occasions.

What the Note Contains.

Berlin, May 29.—The German reply to the American note sent after the sinking of the Lusitania was signed by Herr von Jagow, the foreign minister, at 11 o'clock last night and delivered to Ambassador Gerard this afternoon for transmission to Washington.

The note expresses Germany's regret for injuries sustained by Americans as a result of submarine and aeroplane attacks and offers compensation in cases in which Germany is found to be in the wrong.

As indicated previously in these dispatches the note defers a direct answer to the questions raised by President Wilson, pending a further exchange of views.

Germany desires to establish whether the Lusitania was a defenseless merchant ship or was being used for the transportation of war material and soldiers on which unsuspecting passengers were permitted to take passage to safeguard the war materials.

The American representations regarding the torpedoing of the British steamer Falaba, in which an American citizen lost his life, are answered with the statement that ample time was given for the passengers and crew to leave the ship.

The action of the German government, however, necessitated more summary action. Even then the commander of the submarine granted ten minutes for those on board to leave the vessel and subsequently extended the time to 23 minutes before sinking the ship.

Germany expresses regrets for the "unintentional attacks" on the American ships.

SUMMARY OF WAR

Germany's reply to the American note sent after the sinking of the Lusitania was delivered yesterday by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin. It does not specifically answer the American representations concerning the sinking of the Lusitania and discontinuance of present methods of submarine warfare. These points are left for settlement in further negotiations.

Germany expresses regret for attacks on American vessels which are admitted to have been unintentional. Compensation is offered in cases in which Germany is shown to have been found at fault and reference to The Hague disputed cases is suggested.

Germany sets up the assumption, a basis for negotiations, that the Lusitania was a British naval auxiliary, carrying mounted guns as well as troops and war munitions, and that was a violation of American law to carry passengers on her. The United States is asked what steps, if any, it has taken to induce Great Britain to start from its policy of cutting off Germany's importations of food supplies; a settlement Germany has indicated her willingness to discuss, if the Italian campaign is developing.

Two well defined lines in the progress of advances toward the Austrian as of Trent and Trieste. Italian ships are reported advancing from the south, the northwest and southwest. On the eastern north of the Gulf of Trieste, the Germans are said to have occupied additional territory. Resistance of the pro-German forces is reported to become stronger, however. A dispatch says the conviction is growing that Austria will conduct a defenseless campaign.

The advance of the Austrians and Germans toward the Galician fortress of Przemyśl, threatening its investment, remains unchecked. The communication from the Berlin war office yesterday stated that additional territory had been occupied and that determined attacks of the Russians had been repulsed, one Russian regiment being wiped out.

Along the Franco-Belgian line no new actions of first importance have developed, although severe local engagements at several points are reported in official communications from Paris and Berlin. German aviators dropped bombs on St. Omer and Gravelines, near Calais; on Dunkirk and on Pimes, in Marne, near Rheims. The British steamer Ethiope, of 2,475 tons, was sunk by a German submarine in the English channel. Her crew was permitted to embark in small boats before the vessel was torpedoed.

In the southwestern war theatre, the Austrian war office reports that several naval armen made a raid on Venice, dropping bombs. An arsenal was damaged by fire on an explosion occurred in Fors Nicola. No news of this raid has come through official Italian sources.

Progress is reported by the French war office to have been made in the sector north of Arras. The French official statement also claims to have repulsed with complete success a German counter attack on their trenches at Alain St. Nazaire, and after taking the offensive, are now holding the entire village.

can steamers Cushing and Gulfport. She disavows an intention to attack harmless neutral craft. She offers to pay compensation wherever she is found to be in the wrong and to refer doubtful cases to The Hague for a decision.

The assumptions of fact are as follows: Auxiliary Cruiser.

"The Lusitania was built as an auxiliary cruiser, subsidized and carried on the navy lists as such. She carried, according to German information, two guns, mounted and concealed below decks. British steamers sailing from New York, according to information received from passengers and other sources, repeatedly carried soldiers, artillery, war supplies and contraband to England, the Lusitania on this trip carrying specifically 5,400 cases of ammunition, in addition to other war supplies and Canadian troops en route to the front."

Reference is here made to the fact that carrying explosives on passenger steamers is contrary to American law. It is intimated the German government would be glad to receive information as to how ammunition was permitted to be shipped on the Lusitania, a vessel crowded with passengers. Strong phrases are used concerning what is regarded apparently the deliberate policy of British shipping companies to protect war shipments by embarking American passengers on the ship.

Germany contends it is impossible to settle the question whether proper opportunity was given to place the passengers and crew in safety until it was determined whether the regulations adopted after the sinking of the Titanic, regarding a proper supply of boats and water-tight bulkheads, which are now a part of the American law, were observed in the case of the Lusitania.

Finally the American mediatory proposals designed to end submarine warfare and the throttling of food supplies and other conditional contraband for Germany are recalled. The government expresses the desire to know what steps, if any, had been taken to induce Great Britain to embark on negotiations to this end, after Germany indicated her willingness to discuss a settlement on this general basis.

The delivery of the note to Ambassador Gerard was not attended with any special ceremony. A functionary of the foreign office carried it across the square to the American embassy, where it was placed in the hands of the American ambassador. The embassy staff immediately began coding the message and transmitting it to Washington. Mr. Gerard in the meantime called at the foreign office.

Nebraska in Dry Dock.

Liverpool, May 30, 12:40 a. m.—The American steamer Nebraska, was placed in dry dock yesterday at Birkenhead in the presence of the American naval attaché, Lieutenant John H. Towers, British naval officers and other experts.

The vessel showed a huge gap forward on the starboard side, twenty feet long, and twelve feet deep at the bottom of the ship, which at this point had been blown away. All the plates surrounding this gap were curved inward.

portunity was given to place the passengers and crew in safety until it was determined whether the regulations adopted after the sinking of the Titanic, regarding a proper supply of boats and water-tight bulkheads, which are now a part of the American law, were observed in the case of the Lusitania.

Finally the American mediatory proposals designed to end submarine warfare and the throttling of food supplies and other conditional contraband for Germany are recalled. The government expresses the desire to know what steps, if any, had been taken to induce Great Britain to embark on negotiations to this end, after Germany indicated her willingness to discuss a settlement on this general basis.

The delivery of the note to Ambassador Gerard was not attended with any special ceremony. A functionary of the foreign office carried it across the square to the American embassy, where it was placed in the hands of the American ambassador. The embassy staff immediately began coding the message and transmitting it to Washington. Mr. Gerard in the meantime called at the foreign office.

Nebraska in Dry Dock.

Liverpool, May 30, 12:40 a. m.—The American steamer Nebraska, was placed in dry dock yesterday at Birkenhead in the presence of the American naval attaché, Lieutenant John H. Towers, British naval officers and other experts.

The vessel showed a huge gap forward on the starboard side, twenty feet long, and twelve feet deep at the bottom of the ship, which at this point had been blown away. All the plates surrounding this gap were curved inward.

None of the officials was saying anything about the nature of the explosion.

Paris, May 29.—What Americans have done for France during the war was acknowledged impressively by the French government and people today in a presentation to W. G. Sharp, the American ambassador, of four great albums containing autographed appreciations by eminent authors and poets, and original drawings by artists of France. The albums will be sent by Ambassador Sharp to the congressional library at Washington and five hundred duplicates arranged for by the French government will be presented to public libraries in as many cities in the United States.

The ceremony today took place in the historic amphitheater of the university of Paris. Among the notable persons present were President Poincaré and Mme. Poincaré.

A chorus composed of 100 girls sang the "Star Spangled Banner." Leon Bonnat, president of the Institute of France and Gabriel Hanotaux, representing the French Academy, presented the albums to the American ambassador.

Theophile Braga Is Elected President Republic of Portugal

Lisbon, May 29.—Theophile Braga, who was provisional president of Portugal following the revolution which resulted in the abdication of King Manuel, was today elected president of the republic by the national assembly to succeed Manuel de Arriaga, who resigned. Senior Braga was elected by a vote of 96 to 1.

Mr. Dorsey's Letter in Full.

Mr. Dorsey's letter was in response to notice from the commission of the pending application.

"The court records of the case, which doubtless will be considered by the present court, are in the hands of the commission of which Frank was convicted by the courts of this county and illustrate the conditions and circumstances under which the crime was committed."

Mr. Dorsey said: "I do not understand the application for executive clemency to set up any newly discovered evidence or other grounds not heretofore considered and finally decided by the various judges of all the courts, state and federal, which have declined to interfere with the verdict finding Frank guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan."

"The facts and circumstances surrounding the commission of the murder of Mary Phagan do not invoke the exercise of mercy or offer inducements to temper the penalty of the law."

"In this matter I have no bitterness," she declared, "but feel that the penalty the law has imposed is not too severe."

A letter to the commission from Spencer R. Atkins, of Atlanta, former justice of the state supreme court, stated that during Frank's trial Judge Roan from the bench handed him an anonymous letter threatening Judge Roan and Frank's lawyers with death if Frank were acquitted.

"Judge Roan at that time expressed doubt as to whether it was possible to give Frank a fair trial," Mr. Atkinson wrote.

A clemency petition signed by the editors of about sixty leading newspapers and magazines was received at Governor Slaton's office today and letters from Frank's behalf were received from United States Senator Vandenberg of Mississippi, Congressman Gregg of Texas and Chipperfield of Illinois; Governor Hanna of North Dakota and former Rabbi David Marx of Atlanta, who was Frank's pastor.

U. S. ATTORNEY FILES PLEA COMMUTATION FRANK'S SENTENCE

URGES PRISON COMMISSION TO SHOW MERCY—SEEKS TO PROVE TESTIMONY OF STATE'S OWN WITNESS IS THAT FRANK DID NOT MURDER MARY PHAGAN.

DORSEY GIVES OUT LETTER

Opposes Clemency—Declares Influence of Friends in and Out of the State of Georgia Failed to Sway the Courts from Carrying Out Justice by Law.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—Hooper Alexander, United States attorney for the northern district of Georgia, late today filed with the state prison commission a plea for commutation of Leo M. Frank's sentence, in which he seeks to show by the testimony of the state's own witness that Frank did not murder Mary Phagan, but that James Conley, a negro, now serving a sentence as an accessory after the crime, was the slayer.

Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general, who prosecuted Frank, also gave out tonight his letter to the prison commission opposing clemency for Frank, declaring "the facts and circumstances surrounding the commission of the murder do not invoke the exercise of mercy or offer inducement to temper the penalty," and further that the fact that Frank's conviction has been affirmed by both state and federal courts, "despite the indefatigable exertions of his influential friends in and out of Georgia, justifies by deep conviction that the ends of justice have been accomplished by the processes of law."

Mr. Alexander explicitly states in his communication, which comprises approximately 25,000 words, that he makes his appeal on Frank's behalf, not in his capacity as federal attorney, but entirely in the capacity of a private citizen of Georgia, who "does not desire to see an innocent man hanged for another's crime."

Mr. Alexander presents circumstances tending to show why the police were liable to be mistaken and why the public failed at the time to perceive the importance of the discovery that Conley wrote the "murder notes." He also points out alleged inconsistencies in Conley's statements and argues on the physical impossibility of material features in the negro's story. Further he says:

"While Conley's account of his actions and conversations with Frank after the murder occupied, according to him, only 34 minutes, they could not have occurred within two hours. According to the testimony of the defense, it would have taken more than an hour to prepare the notes alone, but I reduce that estimate to half an hour."

Mr. Dorsey's letter was in response to notice from the commission of the pending application.

"The court records of the case, which doubtless will be considered by the present court, are in the hands of the commission of which Frank was convicted by the courts of this county and illustrate the conditions and circumstances under which the crime was committed."

Mr. Dorsey said: "I do not understand the application for executive clemency to set up any newly discovered evidence or other grounds not heretofore considered and finally decided by the various judges of all the courts, state and federal, which have declined to interfere with the verdict finding Frank guilty of the murder of Mary Phagan."

New York, May 29.—A petition with 800,000 signatures for the commutation of the death sentence of Leo M. Frank was sent by the Anti-Death Penalty committee of the Women's Peace society to Gov. John M. Slaton of Georgia tonight.

Striving Hard to Save the King of Greece

KING CONSTANTINE

When the condition of King Constantine of Greece became critical a message at last reached Professor Kraush, who had been doing medical duty with the German army in Poland. He at once returned to Berlin and started for Greece. He was joined in Vienna by the celebrated surgeon, Dr. Eiselsberg. The streets around the royal palace are packed day and night with silent, anxious crowds, awaiting with intense suspense each successive bulletin.

Mexicans. The seizure by the Carranza authorities of 600 tons of corn purchased by the international relief committee is one of the incidents which have aggravated the situation considerably and it is expected notice will be served on the Mexican government to permit the transportation of relief supplies or the American government may be constrained to undertake the distribution of supplies through its own agencies.

The plan of President Wilson has been evolved after many conferences with cabinet officers and others. The report of Duval West, who returned last Tuesday after an investigation of the economic and political situation in Mexico, confirmed the impressions of the president that none of the factions seemed able to control the military situation and that famine was threatening in many parts of the republic.

The president is said to be hopeful that his statement will draw the better element of the Mexican military factions together into some constructive plan for the establishment of a government that could be accorded recognition by the United States.

Eliseo Arredondo, head of the Carranza agency here, issued a statement tonight declaring every facility would be afforded by General Carranza to carry on relief work and that President Wilson's appeal was deeply appreciated. General Carranza was held in the statement to be innocent of any "charge of neglect or indifference in connection with the unfortunate food situation in Mexico where the constitutional government is in control."

The statement announced further that Carranza forces under General Pablo Gonzales were moving toward Mexico City, to take the capital and relieve distress there. In the meantime, Mr. Arredondo adds, no one "will expect Mr. Carranza to ship from the powerful territory under his control the food necessary for the inhabitants of Mexico City to feed the bandits who are responsible for the present situation."

Distress Reported to Red Cross.

Washington, May 29.—Reports of hunger and suffering poured into American Red Cross headquarters today from all parts of Mexico. Apparently in connection with the unfortunate food situation in Mexico where the constitutional government is in control."

Food Stuff to Monterey.

San Antonio, Tex., May 29.—Three carloads of food stuff for the poor of Monterey were shipped out of Laredo today by the American Red Cross society; three more cars will be shipped Sunday and arrangements are being made to ship several other cars within the next two days. In addition twelve cars of provisions purchased by Monterey merchants have been shipped, and a train load of fifteen cars is being made up to be forwarded Monday.

This is the first opportunity merchants of Monterey have had to replenish their stocks in several months because of railroad facilities and also because most of their stocks were confiscated by Villistas. The Red Cross supplies are being distributed by American Consul General Hanna.

Orders for Arms to Mexico.

San Antonio, Tex., May 29.—Orders were placed today for immense quantities of arms and ammunition to be shipped into Mexico. One dealer said the orders include about 3,000,000 rounds of cartridges and 10,000 rifles among dealers here and in other Texas cities, while orders for large quantities have been placed with eastern arms factories. A number of these orders are being placed with permanent committees in the United States to continue the work.

Frank A. Vandenberg of the National City Bank of New York summarized the views of the representatives of the United States tonight in the following statement:

"The Pan-American conference was a happy conception. The results promise to be helpful in giving impetus to the movement of closer trade relations. There is one point on which every member in attendance at the conference seemed to agree—that the greatest obstacle in the way of trade development is a lack of transportation facilities."

"There were divisions of opinion as to how to meet the demand, but there was unanimous agreement that it must be met before really great results are attained."

A resolution by President John R. Fahey of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was adopted pledging the support of that organization to further a better understanding between the two Americas. Mr. Fahey will meet in New York next week with Mr. Vandenberg and Senator Aldao of the Argentine Republic to draft a code to govern the settlement of commercial disputes by arbitration.

The conference ended tonight with a banquet in the Pan-American Union building.

On Monday the delegates will start on a two weeks' tour of the middle west and east.

Mexicans Arrested for Killing Rangers

El Paso, Tex., May 29.—Soldiers of the Fifteenth cavalry, United States army, today arrested and turned over to Texas rangers three Mexicans believed to be connected with the alleged band of outlaws who last week killed Ranger Gene Hulen and River Guard Sitters in the "Big Bend" section of Texas, near Alpine. The arrests were made in that section, and the Mexicans are being taken to Valentine, according to dispatches here today from that place.

Mrs. Cagle Dies at Gatesville.

Gatesville, Tex., May 29.—Mrs. Ben F. Cagle, a widow, aged about 70 years, died last night at the home of her son-in-law, C. C. Carroll. She had lived in this county almost all her life. She is survived by several children and grand children.

President Wilson Sees a Ball Game

Washington, May 29.—President Wilson forgot pressing international questions for a short time today in his interest in a college ball game.

The president has not been feeling as well as usual for the last few days, and he went on a long automobile ride toward Baltimore, in hope the air might benefit him. The automobile passed the Maryland Agricultural College, where the local team was playing the nine from St. John's College, Annapolis.

The president ordered his car stopped and remained for several minutes to watch the game. He bowed smilingly to the students who recognized him.

Graduating Class at the Waco High School

On next Thursday night diplomas will be presented to a class of 110 graduates from the Waco High School. This is the largest class in the history of the institution. The accompanying photograph was taken on the steps of the high school a few days ago for The Morning News.

Waco High School Girls Cooking With Natural Gas

While Europe is bustling for preparations for a large spring war campaign, the United States is continuing along her accepted lines of progression and education.

Waco is no exception to the rule in this respect, and today has one of the best high schools in the state. Particularly important is the Domestic Science department, where our young citizens are taught the rudiments of household work.

This department has now been in operation for three years. There are at present 374 pupils taking the course, and four teachers devote their time exclusively to this department.

It is interesting to note the use to which natural gas is being put, and how these future housewives are being taught to cook in the most modern way.

The accompanying illustration shows a view of the kitchen of what might properly be termed the laboratory of this department. There are 48 hot plates installed in this laboratory, and only recently two large modern gas ranges have been put in. Lockers and drawers are provided in which to keep supplies and everything is arranged in the most sanitary manner. Cleanliness, the most vital feature of this kitchen, is strongly emphasized throughout. It will be noticed that enameled hot plates are used and sanitary tile tops are used on the tables.

In the center of the picture may be seen some results of the class in baking.

There are no doubt many citizens of Waco who do not realize how thoroughly the education of their children is proceeding. No doubt many will be interested enough to visit this department of the high school and see for themselves what is being done.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS GRADUATE THURSDAY

CLASS OF 110 LARGEST IN HISTORY OF INSTITUTION—MANY TO ENTER NEXT FALL.

Honor Roll for Year and Four Years Announced—Slight Changes Made in Program.

Vacation time is almost here for the pupils of Waco schools, which close for the summer this week. High school commencement exercises take place at the Auditorium, Thursday night, the graduating class of 110 being the largest in the history of the institution.

The accompanying photograph of the high school seniors was taken on the steps of the high school building last week, especially for the Morning News.

While the present graduating class is the largest in the history of the school, it will not result in cutting down the enrollment, as the Central Grammar school will graduate 148 and the West Avenue Grammar school about 150 into the high school.

No commencement exercises will be held at the Central school. A special program will be given at the West Avenue school at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Judge Tom L. McCullough will deliver the address, the diplomas will be presented by W. E. Darden, president of the school board, and special music will be furnished by the glee club.

The honor roll at the high school was announced yesterday by Principal E. T. Genheimer. Those who made averages of 90 or above for the four years were as follows:

Parker, Pearl ..... 93 9-16
Levell, Louise ..... 93 13-29
Hill, Vernon ..... 93
Morgan, Carrie ..... 92 5-10
Bruehl, Clara Louise ..... 92
Alexander, Mary ..... 91 9-10
Garrett, Charles ..... 91 8-10
Edmond, Flora ..... 91 5-10
Parsons, Elsie ..... 91 1-10
Stribling, Thale ..... 90 4-10
The honor roll for the last year is as follows:

Barcus, Nannette ..... 96.2
Wilson, Paul ..... 95.4
Levell, Louise ..... 95.2
Parker, Pearl ..... 95
Barron, Estelle ..... 95
Wilkes, Adrienne ..... 94.8
Alexander, Mary ..... 94.4
Garrett, Charles ..... 94.4
Parsons, Elsie ..... 93.3
Edmond, Flora ..... 92.9
Hill, Vernon B. .... 92.2
Morgan, Carrie ..... 91.9
Renick, Marian ..... 91.5

Markham, Robert ..... 91.5
McKnight, Madella ..... 91.2
Hauhold, Egan ..... 90.5
Freund, Mildred ..... 90.4
Several changes have been made in the program for Thursday night since it was originally announced. In its present corrected form, the program is as follows:

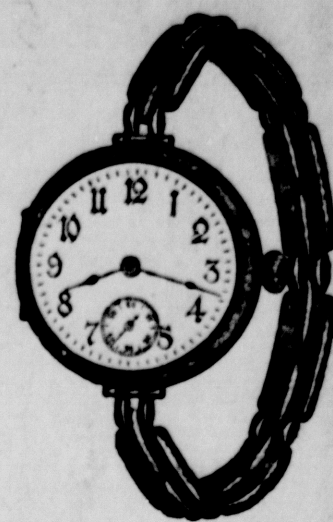

Invocation, Rev. F. P. Culver.
Chorus, "Estudiantina," Class.
Salutatory, Louise Levell.
Class poem, Adrienne Wilkes.
Violin solo, Clara Louise Bruehl.
Reading, Marian Renick.
Girls' chorus, "School Days," Ima Board, Alice Cox, Flora Edmond, Leah Friedman, Bess Herrick, Beuna La-Gow, Erin McDaniel, Fidelia Miller, Carrie Morgan, Marian Renick, Alethia Sleeper, Marian Stanford, Louey Tyler, Adrienne Wilkes.
Valedictory, Pearl Parker.
Chorus, "Our Old-High," class.
Presenting diplomas, W. E. Darden.
Benediction, Rev. J. M. Dawson.

There have been some good-sized classes graduated from the Waco high school, but none as large as the one this June. Last year, the graduating class consisted of twenty-five boys and fifty girls. This year there are thirty-eight boys and seventy-two girls. The list of those expected to receive diplomas follows:

POOR VIEW FROM TRENCHES.

An Irish Fighter Writes That the Great War is an Epic.

The view obtainable from our lines is not particularly exciting. Imagine a flat tract with a line of pollard willows fringing a stream about 200 yards away on the horizon. Only two things belie the peaceful appearance—a large line of breastworks topped by whitish sandbags and broken here and there by sinister gaps and the ruins of some farm houses. That is all, except rows of barbed-wire entanglements. Looking back from the position one sees nothing of what once were houses, the remains of a convent inclosed by high walls, an enclosure with a side of about a quarter of a mile, a road across which our line is thrown and the little stream which prattles along quite cheerily as if there was nothing wrong—just like a little child I saw, shortly after we landed, playing in a house which the Germans had shelled and building castles out of the displaced bricks.

Thank goodness it is spring! Today has been one of warm sunlight and cloudless skies—so far, at any rate—and it is glorious to be able to bask again. Spring, too, means movement. These abominable marshes will dry up and the great advance will begin. It is an enormous privilege to take part in this war. Apart from any question of right or wrong, the whole thing is absolutely epic—yes, even the mud! Everything is colossal—millions of men struggling over the map of Europe, gigantic guns hurling tons of metal every shot; hundreds of factories feverishly pouring out supplies and munitions. And yet when we are hailed out of bed in the morning to "stand to" these high-falutin' ideas vanish and all our feelings are summed up in a damn!

We move out of the trenches tonight, after seven days out of eight on duty. It will be a relief to sleep with one's boots off on a wooden floor—that is to say, if our billet has not been tumbled down during our absence.—From an Irish Soldier's Letter in the London Times.

For refinishing that dingy piece of furniture we have just what you need. Call either phone No. 60 and we will tell you about it. Brazelton, Pryor & Co.—Adv.

BREAST-FED BABIES HAVE BEST CHANCE

DURING SUMMER MONTHS
PREVENTS DIARRHEA.

POINTERS FOR THE MOTHER

Children's Bureau of Federal Government Shows How Many Tots Can Be Saved.

A mother may shield her baby from suffering and illness in many ways. Her wise and loving care is never so invaluable as in the first year of the baby's life. In this country thousands of babies under one year of age die during the summer because mothers who love them do not know how to take care of them.

No other one thing a mother can do for her baby means more to him than to feed him at her own breast. Babies who are fed entirely at the breast usually do not have diarrhea, unless over-fed, but bottle-fed babies are very likely to have this trouble, even if the milk is carefully prepared. This is true at all seasons of the year, but it is especially important in summer when the heat and flies make bottle feeding so dangerous.

The mother knows that if she gives her baby the breast that she is giving him

1. Pure milk—never sour.
2. Fresh milk, made and used as needed.
3. Milk of the same temperature throughout the feeding.

And, most important, milk made especially for and especially adapted to the needs of the baby.
If she feeds him from a bottle, she is not sure of any of these things, for in no way can cows' milk be made as good as breast milk.

A mother can usually nurse her baby if she has been properly cared for before the baby's birth and at the time of birth, and no mother who wants to give her baby a good start will consent to deprive him of breast milk, at least during the first few months of life.

Rules for Nursing.

After the mother's milk comes, usually on the third day, the baby may be nursed every three hours, at 6 and 9
a. m., at 12 noon, and at 3, 6 and 9 p. m., with one feeding during the night. On the four-hour plan, the baby will nurse at 6 and 10 a. m., 2, 6 and 10 p. m.
In the intervals she should give him a little water which has first been boiled and cooled.

When the baby is four months old he should no longer be nursed, and at six months the mother should begin to lengthen the time between feedings a quarter of an hour each week until the length of time between nursings is four hours. If the milk is plentiful the breasts should be nursed alternately, but it may be necessary to give both breasts at one feeding in order to satisfy the baby. The baby requires no other food, save breast milk and drinking water, until he is eight or nine months old.

In some cases the mother may not have enough breast milk to satisfy the baby. It is then necessary to give one or more bottle feedings a day in addition. Later articles will give directions for this kind of feeding, as well as for weaning and artificial feeding.

Food to Avoid.

The nursing mother should have plenty of simple nutritious food. She should eat what she likes, provided her food is not too indigestible, for if the mother is well fed she will usually be well. But if the mother has headaches or pain on the stomach or bowels, or has a cold, or is suffering from indigestion, she should eat only the most easily di-gestible food and she should try to find out what is causing the trouble.

Fat, greasy and fried foods, such as doughnuts, pancakes, baked beans, pie, heavy puddings, and dumplings and insufficiently cooked cereals, are among the foods that make babies sick.

Fresh, well cooked vegetables, good soups, bread and butter, milk, eggs, meat, fish, poultry and fruits should form the principal part of the diet of a nursing mother. All good food is milk-making food. It is better to do without tea or coffee, unless the mother has always been accustomed to them. If so, she should cut down the amount to one cup of each drink per day. Cocoa may be used in moderate quantities, but milk, both sweet and buttermilk, and plenty of cold pure water are the best drinks for the nursing mother.

Plenty of Sleep for Mother.

Nursing mothers should have plenty of sleep at night, and should learn to relax and rest whenever the baby nurses.
As far as possible she should be relieved of the heaviest part of the household work because if she is tired and worn the baby will not thrive as he should.

The nursing mother should have a full movement of the bowels every day, and should not use medicine to induce an action unless absolutely necessary. Ripe, raw fruits, stewed rhubarb, and prunes and well cooked oatmeal and other cereals are laxative. Graham and bran breads are most useful in constipation.

Bran bread is made as follows:
1 cup of cooking molasses.
1 teaspoonful of soda.
1 small teaspoonful of salt.
1 pint of sour milk or buttermilk.
1 quart of bran.
1 pint of flour.

Stir well and bake for one hour in a moderate oven. It may be baked as a loaf, or in gem pans as preferred. The bread should be moist and tender, and may be eaten freely, and it will usually have a good effect if used every day for weeks.

To keep the breasts from becoming sore, they should be washed with warm water and good castile soap every night and after each nursing. For a few weeks before the baby is born the nipples should be washed in this way every night, and covered with vaseline.

Legal Notices

SHERIFF'S SALE—The State of Texas, County of McLennan: Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain order of sale, issued out of the honorable 74th district court of McLennan county, Texas, on the 29th day of May, 1915, by R. V. Mc-Clain, clerk of said court, for the sum of eleven hundred and ninety-one and 35/100 ($1191.35) dollars, together with interest thereon from said date at the rate of 10 per cent per annum, and costs of $1.50 per judgment, in favor of T. B. Dockery, in a certain cause in said court No. 549, and styled T. B. Dockery vs. F. E. Holder and J. W. Holder, placed in my hands for service, I, S. S. Fleming, as sheriff of McLennan County, Texas, do, on the 29th day of May, 1915, levy on certain real estate, situated in McLennan county, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: Located in the city of Waco, McLennan County, Texas, being
No. 10 of the "Waco Company's" subdivision of the Burleson tracts on N. 7th and N. 9th Sts. in the said city of Waco, as same appears from a plat or map of said addition, duly recorded in volume 254 at pages 402 and 403 of the Deed Records of McLennan county, Texas.
This said judgment is a foreclosure of a vendor's lien and deed of trust lien, secondary and subject to the lien of W. G.
Weatherly on the above described property, and that on the first Tuesday in July, 1915, the same being the 6th day of said month, at the courthouse door of McLennan county, in the city of Waco, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. by virtue of said levy and order of sale, I will sell said above described real estate at public vendue for cash to the highest bidder, as the property of said J. W. Holder and F. E. Holder. And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Waco Morning News, a newspaper published in McLennan county, Texas, to-wit: The 29th day of May, 1915.

Sheriff McLennan County, Tex.
By F. N. OLIVER, Deputy.

FORT WORTH PITCHER WINS A GREAT BATTLE FROM ASHTON.

BUT 4 BALLS OUT OF DIAMOND

Walters Goes in as Pinch Hitter, but Fails to Hit the Ball, Striking Out.

Fort Worth, May 29.—Fentress pitched great ball for Fort Worth today and won a battle with Ashton by a score of 2 to 1. Waco batted but four balls to the outfield and Fentress was given brilliant support by his infield. Waco scored her lone tally on a double steal and Fort Worth put across the winning run on the same play.

Conwell walked in the third and went to third on Reilly's single, the latter over-running first base and being caught in a chase. A home run was made at the plate for Conwell, but he was safe and Reilly went to second and was sacrificed to third by Ashton. Tanner hit into a double play, Atz to Hunter to McMurray. Reilly attempting to score when Atz threw to first.

In the fifth with one down Stow walked and Fentress singled. Stow stole third on Harper's fly to right. On a double steal a play was made for Stow. Reilly to Conwell, but Stow slid in safely. Atz was safe on Tanner's error. Tullis went out, Ashton to Wohleben.

With two out in the seventh Harper walked and stole second. He scored on Atz single to left. Atz went to second on Crichlow's bunt. The drive, but Tullis fled out to left.

In the eighth, with two down, Conwell singled and Reilly walked. Walters went in as a pinch hitter for Ashton, but struck out. In Fort Worth's half of the eighth, Markle, who had replaced Ashton, walked. Hunter, but McVey hit into a double. Tanner to Malmquist to Wohleben and McChesney fled out to right.

ARLINGTON

The World's Most Beautiful Military Cemetery

Equestrian Statue of Gen. Phil Kearny

Copyright, 1915, by The International Syndicate.

Once the Home of General Robert E. Lee—How It Became a Military Cemetery—Description of Some of the Newest and Most Notable Tombs.

It was not the irony of fate but rather the hand of an all-wise Providence that has made the once beautiful home of the military idol and chieftain of the Confederacy—General Robert E. Lee, the most magnificent burial ground of our dead heroes who give their lives in defense of our country's honor.

A Beautiful Spot.

A more beautiful spot than Arlington could scarcely be imagined. The old mansion built in 1802 is brick covered with stucco, and with the two wings presents a frontage of one hundred and forty feet toward the national capital. A grand portico sixty feet in front and twenty-five feet in depth, with eight massive Doric columns, constitutes the main entrance. This was modeled after the Temple of Thebes at Athens.

The mansion stands on the brow of a hill whose slopes stretch for half a mile or more to the shores of the Potomac several hundred feet below. The outlook toward the capital city beggars description and artists from every land have gone into raptures with pen and brush over its beauties. The scene is wide and far reaching. In the foreground the historic Potomac is seen with Georgetown and Washington on the opposite shore; far to the north is the great white tower of the Soldiers' Home, and in the south the spires of Alexandria come into view. Almost in the middle of the "picture" the tall shaft erected in memory of General Washington stands out against the sky, and on this the eye centers and lingers. After all, it seems most fitting that the men who gave their lives for their country should sleep their long sleep on the heights which overlook the capital of the land for whose honor they fought and died.

The grounds with their hills, valleys and plateaus are noble in themselves. The great oaks bend their leafy boughs almost to the ground as if protecting the rows of unknown dead which rest beneath their shade. Indeed, it seems as if Nature had prepared this particular spot for the purpose for which it is now being used.

"The Bivouac of the Dead." All through the grounds are scattered bronze tablets bearing inscriptions of a verse from Colonel Theodore O'Hara's remarkable poem, "The Bivouac of the Dead." It was written in memory of the Kentucky soldiers who were killed in the Mexican War and was read in public for the first time in Frankfort, Kentucky, at the dedication of the monument set up to the memory of the men who fell in the Mexican campaign. It has since become one of the famous war poems of the world. The remains of Colonel O'Hara lie in the Mexican War section of the cemetery.

The main entrance is from the lower road on the east of the mansion through what is known as the Sheridan Gate—an imposing structure flanked on each side by two imposing columns which once stood at the War Office in Washington. When this building was reconstructed in April, 1879, the pillars were transferred to Arlington and set up at this point. Farther down is another entrance rarely used, known as the McClellan Gate—a handsome portal built of red sandstone and named in honor of the first Commander of the Army of the Potomac. Two of the six War Office columns form the Ord and Weitzel Gate which opens into what is known as the Lower Cemetery.

Splendid Memorials.

The officers' section is filled with monuments—some simple and others elaborate, and one might wander days among the vine-covered tombs and trace out history, for perhaps nowhere else in the world are the tombs of so many great men clustered together.

The sarcophagus of General Meigs always attracts attention. The beautiful monument in memory of Captain Nathan Sargent, U. S. N., which represents the Angel of Peace with the olive branch in her hand as the figurehead of a boat, is one of the most artistic works of art in the cemetery. The Chinese coffin shaped tomb of Captain John Williams, U. S. M. C., who died in Florida in 1812, is the unique tomb of the cemetery. The tomb to the unknown dead whose bones were gathered from the field at Bull Run, the Temple of Fame, the Sheridan Tomb, the Porter Mound, and many others are too well known to need description here.

The Crook monument erected in memory of General George C. Crook, the noted Indian fighter, tells the story in bronze of the surrender of the Apache Indians under Chief Geronimo to General Crook in 1883. The figures are excellent portraits of the men who took part in the surrender (the face of General Chaffee and Geronimo being exceptionally fine) and is regarded as one of the best monuments in the ### Cemetery.

While every tomb in the officers' section is interesting the most impressive part of the cemetery is what is known as the field of dead in the private's section. There long rows of white stones stretch out in endless lines, for there a silent army of sixteen thousand soldiers who wore the blue are bivouaced for their long sleep. The stones which mark the graves are of the simple pattern adopted by the Government in 1872 for all National Cemeteries. They are set up in rows a few feet apart. On each is the name of the soldier, his State and the number by which he is enrolled in the great Roll of Honor kept by the War Department. Five thousand lie in unknown graves marked by the white stone with the inscription "Unknown." These are as tenderly cared for as the graves of the greatest general.

Confederate Section.

The Confederate section where several hundred men who fell in defense of the Lost Cause are buried is near the Fort Myer Gate. These bodies were gathered from the various cemeteries of the District of Columbia. Each grave is marked with the regulation headstone. The first memorial service in memory of the Confederate dead held at Arlington took place on June 7th, 1903. Since that time a splendid memorial has been erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy. It is bronze and represents the Southern woman stretching out her hand in peace over her fallen sons.

The Spanish-American War section already contains several thousand graves and a number of monuments. The central one, a tall Doric column surmounted by a bronze eagle, was erected by the Colonial Dames in memory of the men who fell in that war. Nearby is the tomb of Admiral

The Officers' Section

Monument in Memory of the Men who Fell in the Spanish-American War

Sampson and other officers who took part in that war. There is also a special monument to the Rough Riders and to the nurses who served in that conflict.

The Maine Memorial.

The bodies of about two hundred and fifty men who met their death when the Maine was blown up in the Havana harbor rest in a part of the Spanish-American War section. One hundred and sixty-three bodies were sent to Arlington shortly after the disaster, and several years later, after the United States Government raised the ship the remains of many others found in various parts of the wreck were placed in the cemetery. One of the anchors and several mortars serve to ornament the plot. After the final sinking of the hulk of the Maine outside the Havana harbor the mast was sent to Washington and afterward set up at Arlington as a part of the memorial erected by the United States Government in memory of the men who lost their lives on the ill-fated battleship. This memorial is the masterpiece of the entire cemetery. The lower part, representing the turret of a battleship, is of white marble on which the names of the dead men are inscribed with the mast in the center with rope ladders reaching to the "crow's nest" at the top. It stands at the far end of the Maine plot. The graves of the Maine dead are spread out in the foreground.

Curious Sarcophagus of General Montgomery

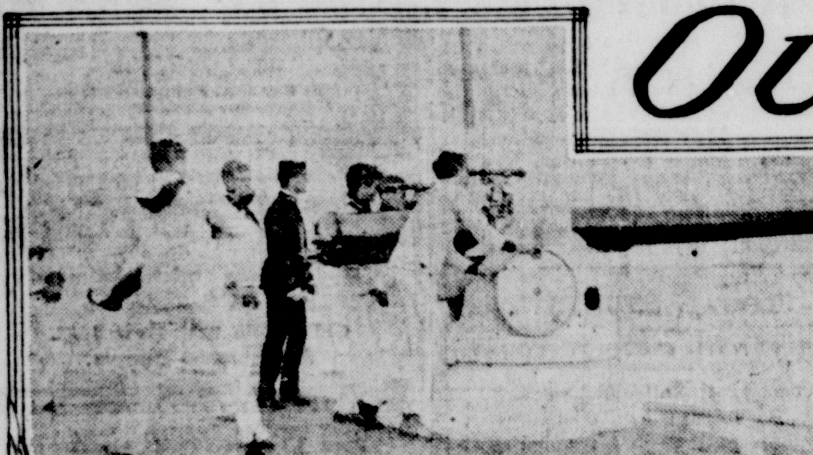

ments to the memory of officers who came from these States, the most notable ones being the splendid tomb set up by Pennsylvania in memory of General Wint, of Spanish-American fame, and the elaborate monument erected by the State of Connecticut to her honored dead. This memorial is made of Tennessee marble and is forty feet in height and ten feet square at the base. It is elaborately carved.

But One Equestrian Statue.

There is but one equestrian statue in the cemetery and this was recently erected by the State of New Jersey on the one hundredth anniversary of her illustrious son, General Phil Kearny of Civil War fame. The statue is an imposing one. The figure of Gen. Kearny on horseback is in bronze and rests on a massive granite base. It stands near the Rostrom and is a splendid addition to the art of this magnificent memorial ground of our honored dead—the world's most beautiful military cemetery.

Thousands of visitors come to Arlington each year to pay tribute to the fallen heroes, and on each Memorial Day people from both North and South come from far and near laden with flowers which they reverently strew upon the graves of those who loved and served their country so well.

OUR NAVAL OFFICERS in the Making

Target Practice

An Intimate Story of the Life of a Midshipman From the Time He Enters the U. S. Naval Academy Until He Is Graduated a Full Fledged Officer of Our Great Navy.

COMPARATIVELY few Americans except those especially interested in navy matters have anything but a superficial idea of the real making of a naval officer, of the rigid training and hard study a young man must undergo before he is graduated as an officer in the United States Navy.

The United States Naval Academy, where the officers of our sea-fighting machines are educated, is located on the banks of the Severn river about two miles from Chesapeake Bay and adjoining the corporate limits of Annapolis, Maryland's historic capital. The area of the grounds, including Fort Detrick and the Government farm, comprises about two hundred acres, three sides of which face the water, and from its front miles upon miles of navigable waters stretch out before one's view—waters where the entire United States Navy could ride at anchor if necessary. The waters afford sea room for the midshipmen's practice with their cutters, launches and small boats under oars, as well as for gun practice on the ships.

Started in 1845.

The site was selected in 1845 during the administration of President James K. Polk, when George Bancroft was the Secretary of the Navy. It was a small affair for the country was still young and the navy consisted of a few inferior ships. In January, 1846, four months after the school opened, thirty-six midshipmen who had begun a sort of haphazard study of the duties of an officer on the different ships were preparing for examination for promotion.

All candidates must be at the time of their examination for admission between the ages of sixteen and twenty years. At present the course is four years, at the close of which the young man is graduated as an ensign.

He is subjected to a rigid mental examination in reading, writing, spelling, punctuation, grammar, geography, history of the United States, history of the world, arithmetic, algebra and geometry. A deficiency in any one of these subjects may result in his rejection, as no candidate will be admitted unless in the opinion of the Academic Board he shows the requisite mental qualification. He must also be perfect in health, for his physical test is even more exacting than the mental one.

Few luxuries are allowed the future admirals at the Academy. Their rooms are furnished in the simplest style—an iron bed, a book-case, a cupboard, a wash stand, a study table and chair go to make up the furnishings. The floor is bare except for a seventy cent rug which is one of the expenses included in the entrance equipment. The walls are bare as well, and if the Middy has a picture of the girl he left behind him it must be tacked up inside his cupboard.

Mark Twain's Joke.

This led the late Mark Twain to remark while visiting the Naval Academy that "the proper way to keep one's sweetheart is in a close (clothes) press." The rooms in Bancroft Hall, where the dormitories are located, are built in suites of three rooms and a bath. Two men occupy each suite, having separate bedrooms. The third room is a study room. The suites of the first class are the largest, while those of the fourth classmen, known as "plebes," are the smallest.

Life Not One of Ease.

Life at the Naval Academy is not one of ease for when the six o'clock gun is fired the midship must rise. Then comes formation and breakfast and listening to prayers, after which he goes back to his room to put it in order for inspection. Recitations begin at eight o'clock, and from that time until twelve-thirty he is either studying or attending recitations. Then comes the dinner formation, where orders are read. One-thirty finds him again at recitation, and at four o'clock drills begin—artillery, infantry, seamanship or boats under oars, steam launches or cutters under sail. During the winter months many of the drills are had indoors. Lessons in rope splicing take place in the seamanship building. "Setting up" exercises and the Swedish movements are taken to strengthen the body. Target practice is held at the gun sheds on the river front by the use of Morris tubes and dotters. Loading machines are used and the midshipmen soon become proficient in this. Submarine drills, torpedo firing and the laying of mines are also studied. Target practice on shipboard is held at the close of the summer cruise.

Genuine manual labor, too, plays a part in the naval officer's education, for besides the drills and regular course of study, which includes two modern languages as well as English, international law and tactics, he must learn the art of boiler making, become an expert machinist, a blacksmith and a pattern maker. He must also understand the new turbine engines, learn wireless telegraphy, be an expert draughtsman and a chemist. At five-thirty in the evening the studies and drills of the day are over, with the exception of Wednesdays and Saturdays, which are known as "short days," when study ceases at four o'clock. The time between the cessation of drills and supper belongs to the midship, and if he is a member of any of the various athletic teams he usually puts in the recreation period practicing with them. Lacrosse, baseball, football, wrestling, fencing, swimming, track, crew and tennis are the athletic sports. There is also a rifle team which ranks high in expert shooting.

In order to belong to any of these voluntary athletics the midshipman must keep up with his class, for while these in authority at the Academy encourage athletics they do not allow them to detract from study. Supper is served at seven o'clock, and by eight the midshipman is back in his room for an hour and a half "boning," as they term study. At nine-thirty a gun is fired and for the next half hour the midship may visit each others' rooms. At ten-thirty the lights go out, and a few minutes later the officers make their rounds to see that all the young men are in bed.

June Week.

June Week and Graduation Day are the great events in Naval Academy life, as the social affairs during the year consist of hops and visits to friends in Annapolis. During June Week the historic old town is crowded with visitors and everybody takes boarders—even the "oldest families" do not hesitate to take "paying guests." All parts of the country join hands to make the event a gala occasion. The exercises consist of exhibition drills in seamanship, infantry, artillery and gunnery. There is the presentation of medals at dress parade and toward the end of the week there is a flag presentation to the Company which has won the honor of carrying the flag during the coming year, and a young lady is selected by the Captain of the retiring Company to present the flag. This ceremony usually draws a large crowd and the fortunate girl is the envy of all her friends. The "class german" is danced on the night before graduation and is the "affair" of the week as only the outgoing class are permitted to dance, each member selecting his fair partner.

The class is graduated on Friday of June Week and the farewell ball is held that night. The graduates, who become Ensigns, upon receiving their diplomas, go to their homes for a month's vacation before they are assigned to the ships. The other three classes start on their annual cruise the next morning.

This year the cruise will be through the Panama Canal to San Francisco, where the middies will enjoy the Panama-Pacific Exposition and will be an added attraction to the great Fair. During the cruise the midshipmen take their turn in all work on shipboard, even in the fire room. At the end of the voyage, August 30th, they are given a month's holiday, and on October 1st the grind begins once more.

And so life goes on at the Academy year after year.

Sacred Heart Academy Commencement Is to Be Held June 9

In common with the regular closing time of the different schools, the Academy of the Sacred Heart will end its regular school year and its commencement will begin Wednesday evening, June 9. The program for the commencement will be given in the auditorium of the academy, beginning at 8 o'clock. The class to be graduated this year consists of twelve young ladies, nine of whom are from Waco.

The alumnae reception to the graduates will be given on June 7 and the class day exercises will take place on June 8, with the regular commencement the following evening.

The graduates are: Misses Mary J. Gorman, Jewelle E. Wortham, Frances K. Hopkins, Rose N. McCormick, Blanche E. Dupre, Wilma A. Shaffer, F. Annette Nethelke, Clemmie A. Tate, E. Lytle McNeese, Waco; Katherine M. O'Neill, Burlington; J. Rose Brady, Rosebud; Rosa Lee Downey, Hubbard.

Waco Confederates Go to Richmond

Among the Confederates and friends of the Confederates going to the Confederate reunion to be held at Richmond, were H. B. Culpepper and wife, Joe Taylor and wife and L. R. Daugherty, leaving yesterday over the Cotton Belt. A number will join the train at points along the route, making something over 250 when the train meets at the main line at Mt. Pleasant. Special sleepers were run from Dallas and other points all along the branch line to accommodate the reunionists.

Gen. Felix H. Robertson left early last week for Richmond so as to be there when the delegates from Texas arrived. The reunion this year will be held June 1, 2 and 3, and the Cotton Belt has arranged so that the delegates and visitors could stop over quite a while longer so as to have plenty of time to visit the places of historic interest, at points near Richmond, as that district abounds in places that hold dear memories of the old war heroes.

MR. AND MRS. R. G. PATTON HAVE HUACO CLUB DINNER

BURLESON PRICE CIRCLE TO HAVE DUAL HOSTESS

In entertainment of the Burleson Price circle at a monthly session in the home of members, the Mesdames Howell James and M. M. Graves are hostesses with Mrs. Graves, on Monday afternoon.

MRS. WILLIAM BREUSTEDT HOSTESS ON SATURDAY

Out at the Country club on Saturday evening was a jolly party of about eighteen guests of Mrs. William Breustedt. This was altogether informal, such as the season now demands, yet jolly itself.

HUACO CLUB WEEKLY DANCE HAS LARGE ATTENDANCE

Since the re-opening of the Huaco club cafe, and the cool of the club is sought, attendance at the Friday night dinners and dances at the Huaco club has brought large numbers together. The assembly of this week was no exception.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN ENTERTAIN ON MONDAY

On Monday evening in the former Progress club, the Council of Jewish Women will be hostesses to all members and their escorts, also the members with escorts of the Junior circle. A pleasing program is prepared.

MRS. W. B. BRAZELTON HOSTESS FOR BRIDGE CLUB

The Friday Bridge club came to the close of its season on Friday. In this Mrs. W. B. Brazelton was hostess. Her only substitute was Mrs. J. D. Willis, who was so fortunate as to make the high score, and thus win the pretty favor. The high consolation club was made by Mrs. Charles Hamilton. Thus, made by the Lady Auction, this bridge club goes into summer adjournment.

BAYLOR ALUMNI BANQUET COMES WITH JUNE EIGHTH

As president of Baylor University Alumni, Dr. Carl Lovelace is forming his committees and working forward the details for the annual Alumni Banquet. This will come at the Huaco club on the night of June eighth. Special music from the city's best talent, with a large reception committee, and features in addition to the banquet proper.

BLUE BONNET PARTIES FILL THE WEEK END

In compliance to the visit of Miss Gladys Grider to her old playmates, Mrs. W. M. Foster invited the Blue Bonnets to enjoy Friday evening at the Huaco club. On Saturday, the same company of congenial girls were guests of Miss Arlath Ellis out at Jack Billou. Vacation days arrive with the next week, and then more Blue Bonnet pleasure is in store.

MR. AND MRS. SKINNER HAVE GUESTS ON LAWN

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Central Presbyterian church, with their escorts and some special friends, enjoyed one of the first lawn gatherings of the season with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Skinner on Friday evening. Punch was offered as the refreshment feature, and a coin plate was in evidence. Other than these details, it was altogether an informal hour, one where all joined in old-fashioned games and realized an exceedingly pleasant evening.

F. ARTHUR JOHNSON BEGINS RECITAL SERIES

Beginning with the evening of June tenth, F. Arthur Johnson is presenting his piano pupils in a series of five recitals. The first will be something well worth attention from the musical loving men and women. For two months practice has been held with nine pianos. In this, an ensemble of thirty eight hands will be rendered. Schubert's "Military" is perhaps a tenth piano will be added. This will be a complimentary recital and the public is invited.

WOMEN'S WEEKLY LUNCHEONS BEGIN AT THE HUACO CLUB

The innovation into summer luncheon at the Huaco club with Thursday. This will inaugurate the weekly lunch for women only. The idea is, that while social engagements are at a minimum, the women will have this weekly pleasure, a cool resort, a good lunch to which they can invite their friends and thus form parties. Also, following the lunch, bridge games can be formed and fancy work on the cool verandas enjoyed. This is offered by the Huaco club management. It will remain to see how the women will avail themselves of this privilege.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

With the call meeting of Friday the Council of Jewish Women disposed of old business, and passed the honors of office to a new corps. In this, Mrs. Alfred Godshaw, who has made a highly acceptable president, turned her duties over to Mrs. Marian Herz. The Council has done much this past season, but the most pretentious endeavor has centered in the Cook Book. The sale has been altogether satisfactory, all but two hundred of the thousands being already placed. Letters from firms all over the country, dealers in food products, have been most complimentary. To much of the routine work in collecting and editing credit is due Mrs. S. J. Davidson.

TEACHERS AT SUL ROSS HAD PLEASANT SURPRISE

It was quite the thoughtful thing in the members of the Mothers' club for Sul Ross school to show appreciation for the teachers' work. The year is just closing, and it was on Friday afternoon, the last opportunity of the Mothers' club to give the teachers a happy surprise. In this, they met, prepared to offer refreshments after an arduous day. Short talks, all in praise of the class room work, as well as co-operation in the Mothers' club, were made. Principal Flankin, representing the teachers, responded. It is thus that the Sul Ross Mothers' club, were made. Principal Flankin, term. One feature especially enjoyed were the readings of Miss Louise Irvine of Baylor University.

MRS. DAWSON HOSTESS FOR WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

With circle Auxiliary number four hostesses, Mrs. J. M. Dawson opened her home to the entire Auxiliary of the First Baptist church on Friday afternoon. This was the monthly coming together of all the neighborhood auxiliaries for a missionary program. Mrs. J. W. Harrell presided. The subject was Africa. The contributors to the program were the Mesdames C. E. Lane, M. C. H. Park, J. W. Downer and T. M. Bishop with a special feature in the voice of Mrs. S. S. Ogilvie from Fort Worth. The rooms were admired in their daisy dress, and a cooling cup of punch was offered by the hostess at the close. During the social hour, two household guests were welcomed, Mrs. Turner of Dallas, mother of Mrs. Dawson, and Mrs. Underwood of Corpus Christi, grandmother of Dr. Dawson. Many members of the Auxiliary were present, and the affair quite a success.

PARENT TEACHERS MEET WITH MRS. W. O. WILKES

The outlook is more than encouraging for an active, interested body of mothers when the new school term begins. Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, the incoming president, called a meeting of her executive board on Friday afternoon. This included the executive board for the association as a whole, also the officers of each individual club. Seven schools were represented and the East Side reported as affiliated, but unable for this meeting to be represented. The conference was more informal, since it was Mrs. Wilkes' idea to hear what the opinions of the women were, so that the most popular could be selected for united work. Mrs. W. M. Foster was elected permanent secretary. The Mesdames J. B. Smith, J. H. Walker and J. W. Downs were named a committee to have draft by-laws and constitution ready for adoption at the first meeting in September. The opinion prevailed that no definite plan should be put into effect before the schools begin another term. Interest was manifest and the get acquainted feeling quite prevalent.

MARY WEST CHAPTER PROGRAM FOR THURSDAY

By special invitation of the Mesdames M. C. H. Park and J. T. Strain, the Mary West chapter will observe the Jefferson Davis birthday with program on the lawn of Mrs. Park, South Fifth street. Mrs. J. P. Findley Smart as historian, has arranged the following: "Mississippi: Her Contribution to the Confederacy." Music: Quartette, "The Mocking Bird." The Mesdames Hassler, Kelly, Sharp and Miss Wells. Paper: "Home Life of Jefferson Davis After the War Between the States." Mrs. Susan Thornton Price. Music: Piano—Miss Mildred Lasting.

Social hour.

Mrs. W. H. Kendall at the piano.

The Mary West chapter invites the general public, and special invitation is extended to all Confederate Veterans.

MRS. WILKES ACCEPTS COTTON PALACE CHAIRMAN

It is with satisfaction emphasized that The Morning News gives the very first announcement to the women of Waco that the general chairman of the women's department in the Cotton Palace has been accepted by Mrs. W. O. Wilkes. The women of Waco will be gratified to know that theirs is such a capable leader. The Cotton Palace directors feel that they have placed this department into experienced hands, and they congratulate themselves that such a woman as Mrs. Wilkes has responded to their call for patriotic service. Mrs. Wilkes is not only capable, but she has been identified with Cotton Palace work, and thus is no novice in details. She has the confidence of the women at large, and this means she will secure competent committees. So far, nothing is done with the women's department except to secure Mrs. Wilkes' consent to serve. In a few days it will be a call for general conference and the forming of the various committees to further the women's work. The Cotton Palace with-

It was certainly the graceful expression for appreciation from the Cameron family in sending Alessandro's band and the Misses Hoffmann the beautiful basket of flowers to close the birthday park entertainment.

Completely and Convincingly Frivolous Is This Young Girl's Frock

FLIMSILY CHARMING GOWN.

As charming as youth, which it clothes, is the little frock shown in this illustration. The fashionable fullness of the buffed skirt accentuates the close fitting proclivities of the bodice and the modest flare of the sleeves. The ruffles of the skirt are wired in quite a mid-Victorian fashion, and the skirt is coquettishly short. Tiny bouquets of rosebuds trim either sleeve and nestle at the V in the front of the bodice.

THREE GIRL HONOREES AT BENEDICTS DINNER

From among the Benedicts, the Doctors Nutter, Eastland and Lovelace were hosts in special compliment to Miss Juliet Graves of Virginia, a visitor, also to the Misses Cella Moore and Stella Lacey, as June brides. Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee Davis, whom Miss Graves visits were chaperons. This was quite the most beautiful dinner added to the assembly at the Huaco club for Friday evening. The table tone was pink, very effectively placed through the center vase and the ribbon cords for the corsage clusters of carnation which lay at the base of the center bowl; the single stem carnation was alternated as men's favors.

The place cards were combination plate and dance programs, quite suited to the girl honorees. This was not only a pretty but an enjoyable dinner, rather the an affair to Miss Graves. Those within the party were the three hosts, the three honorees, with the chaperons, with the Misses Gertrude Bush, Lucile Hall, Annie Risher, Ida Orand, Elizabeth Patton, Marian Duncan, Mrs. Loretta Reeves, also, the Messrs. John Davis Zeigler of Galveston, T. F. Bush, Jerome Cartwright, Hugh White, Doctors Graves and Guy Witt.

Many expressions of approbation were heard from the women over the appearance of the police at Cameron park on Friday. Not one thing unpleasant occurred to require those police. But the congestion was avoided and the general conduct greatly enhanced by this precaution. The woman say, police wherever the crowd is anticipated.

It is deplorable, our lack of deference to our national hymn. When the first note of "Star Spangled Banner" is heard, no matter where, every single soul should rise and stand respectfully until the last note is sounded. Out at Cameron park on Friday evening, the signal of dispersion. It was a travesty on Waco knowledge of what is proper and Waco patriotism. Other countries respect their national anthem and why not we? There is simply no excuse for our conduct.

The scene at Cameron park on Friday evening was proof that an entertainment at the park will never be perfectly satisfactory until seats are provided for those who really enjoy bank music. The constant stream of automobiles, those restless, noisy adjuncts to every gathering, deprived the lovers of music from all their pleasure.

Be Sure Your Baby Gains Each Week

And you'll know he's well and happy. If he isn't at least a few ounces heavier each and every week—you're giving him the wrong food, or, strange as it sounds—you're not giving him enough.

Perhaps your breast milk is getting too thin for that growing little body. Perhaps you're giving the baby cow's milk he can't digest and that may bring sickness—even consumption—to your baby.

You cannot know whether the cow is healthy or the dairy clean. And even if it is, the milk would put a leaden burden on the little bit of baby stomach.

If your own breast milk is not enough, add one feeding a day of

Nestlé's Food

Then make it two feedings a day and so on until the baby is weaned entirely on Nestlé's.

From the top of his little head to the tips of his pink toes—every part of your baby is nourished by NESTLÉ'S.

NESTLÉ'S is made from the milk of cows we know are healthy, in dairies kept absolutely sanitary. All the harmful, heavy parts have been changed and those things your baby needs, that are not in cow's milk, are added—all in just the right amount. But three generations of healthy, happy babies speak best for Nestlé's.

THE CITY GARDEN PATCH.

"One thing that strikes an Englishman traveling in America is the scarcity of back yards in the big cities and the garden patch that usually accompanies them," said William Gaston of Liverpool, a few days ago to a representative of the Washington Post. "There are no back yard gardens in Manhattan, but that is to be expected, inasmuch as ground is so valuable that they are building higher into the air every year. But here in Washington and in other cities of average size there is no reason why every family should not have a house with a back yard where the housewife or the husband, home from his day's labors, could find recreation, and at the same time raise enough vegetables to supply the table for the spring, summer and fall season. Even where houses have back yards, I have observed there are few dwellers who take advantage of the opportunity to raise green stuff for the table."

"In England there is hardly a family in any of the cities—outside of the congested districts of London—that is lacking in a garden patch. Most of the houses in England have front and back yards, and every family raises its own garden truck. The front yards are devoted to flowers, and roses are abundant."

"It is observable that this spring there is more activity than ever exhibited among the people in the cultivation of their gardens, and in many instances the front yards, as well as the back yards, have been planted to vegetables. The drain of the war, the absence of so many men who ordinarily are employed in tilling the soil, must result in a decreased production of food, and the heads of families who remain at home are looking into the future. They realize that they can provide for the future by taking care of the present, and there will be many a family in England this year that will preserve extra quantities of vegetables and fruit for consumption next winter, when food prices probably will be soaring higher than ever before."

We Americans sometimes poke fun at the slow-going Englishmen, but they, like many other Europeans, have many things which we might imitate with profit. This home garden patch is one of them. Such gardens would help solve the high cost of living, would enable many families to have fresh, wholesome vegetables for the dinner table who do not think they can afford to buy them, and then there would be afforded a solution of the problem of something for the city boy to do to keep him off the streets."

There is a suggestion, too, in the example of the Englishmen in canning and preserving more of their vegetables and fruits this year than ever before. We did not get a very liberal start on our city gardens this year and so not much canning and preserving from them will be done, but our friends, the farmers' wives, can take advantage of this suggestion and possibly by next year the housewives of the city will be prepared to join them.

Business and financial interests of the United States will do well to heed the invitation extended by the delegates of the Southern republics to the Pan-American conference, sitting in Washington the past week, to visit their countries during the next six months in order to get acquainted with the people and the possibility for the development of trade and other financial relations that will be mutually helpful to those countries and the United States. Our good will toward those countries will never amount to very much unless it is cemented by the establishment of firm trade relations. And surely the opportunity for the establishment of such relations was never quite so favorable as now.

Palestine is cleaning up and about the most important factor in the clean-up crusade is the proprietor of a picture show who offers a free admission to his show for every man, woman or child who will bring to his theater a dozen empty cans.

FRUITS OF THE SPECIAL SESSION.

It is very gratifying to note that the appropriation bills passed by the special session of the legislature take good care of the educational and eleemosynary institutions of the state, for the most part, and we hope the governor will see his way clear to veto none of the more important items. The total appropriation bill is large, carrying over $16,000,000 for the next two years, but we do not believe it is any larger than the needs of the state demand. If there is any cutting to be done by the governor we hope it will not be done at the expense of the educational and eleemosynary institutions which have never been as liberally provided for as they should have been.

Congressional and senatorial redistricting have been killed again, the finishing funeral touches having been put on by the house this time. The house originally passed an admirable redistricting bill and the senate, by refusing to stand for it, killed the measure by deferring action until the last day or so of the regular session and then changing the measure at the last moment in such a manner that no time was left for the reconciliation of differences in the two bills. The defeat of this very important legislation in the regular session is undoubtedly chargeable to the refusal of the senate to take up the matter at the proper time. For its defeat in the special session the responsibility is not quite so clearly fixed, though the senate again refused to consider the matter until the last few days and again the differences were such in the two bills that they could not be readily adjusted in the stress and rush incident to the close of a session. But a very meritorious piece of legislation has been defeated and a large section of the state is again denied, possibly for six more years, its proper representation in congress and the upper house of the legislature.

Standing out as the most important piece of new legislation by the special session is the $1,000,000 appropriation for the smaller rural schools of the state. If this money is properly expended, as we trust it will be, it ought to prove a great stimulus to the cause of education in those districts where that interest has not been promoted as largely in the past as it should have been. The more emphasis we give to education of the right sort in the rural districts and the cities, the better off we will be, and what is more, the better off will be the succeeding generations for whom this money will be expended.

It was a fortunate circumstance that brought about the death of the bill providing for the three new normal schools. It would be foolish to go about creating additional state institutions of learning when many people of the state are objecting to an adequate support of those we have already. This is no time to be paying political debts with public funds and no one has yet come forward with a reasonable argument to show that there was any other than a political demand for the schools for which three sections of the state were clamoring.

We are of the opinion that Governor Ferguson made a mistake in submitting so many matters to the legislature during the special session of thirty days, as there is little doubt but that congressional redistricting would have been brought about had he not given the members of the legislature permission to crowd the calendar with small matters of little general moment. But taken as a whole, the special session did more than it looked for a while that it would do, and we shall rejoice that it really passed the appropriation bill and thus saved the necessity of a second called session for the present. It has been intimated that another special session may be called in the fall to consider the penitentiary situation, but unless the senate investigating committee does more efficient work than is generally anticipated, we hardly think the legislature will be prepared to redeem the system by the enactment into law of this committee's recommendations.

By training, experience and temperament Judge J. E. Yantis is equipped for the high judicial position to which he has been called by Governor Ferguson and he will vindicate the governor's judgment in the service that he will render on the state's highest tribunal. While Judge Yantis was appointed solely upon his merit as a man and a jurist, his appointment from Central Texas gives to practically every division of the state representation upon the supreme court, Justice Phillips being from North Texas and Justice Hawkins from Brownsville, the most southerly and southwesterly point in Texas.

In one of our exchanges we found the following want ad: "Wanted—A nice girl, with religion, to pull a desirable young man into Heaven with her apron-string; must be able to bake bread also; object matrimony." The only question is, have girls who are both religious and good cooks become so scarce that one must advertise in order to find one? We hardly think so, yet our advertising columns are open to any young man of matrimonial bent who has not been able to find a girl combining these essential qualities.

Under a law enacted by the legislature owners of land are required to exterminate prairie dogs on that land within two years. Why not require that every owner of land shall also be given just two years in which to exterminate the crab grass, cockle burrs and Johnson grass thereon? Any farmer will tell you these are much greater pests than prairie dogs.

We have seen no more creditable High school publications than the annual edition of the Daisy Chain, published by the Senior class of the Waco High school. The members of the editorial and business staffs and of the graduating class in general have our cordial congratulations upon the success of their efforts.

KEEP FOOD CLEAN AND PURE.

Grocers, butchers, restaurant owners, vegetable and fruit vendors, commission merchants and dairymen have had ample warning at the hands of the city and state pure food officers and we hope those officers will file complaints and push vigorous prosecutions for future offenses. There is no need of having laws on the statute books if they are not going to be enforced and there are some people who will not obey the law until they are compelled to do so, especially where it is cheaper and more convenient not to comply with the law.

The majority of dealers in food supplies of every kind will doubtless obey the laws requiring that the foods that they offer for sale shall be pure in themselves and shall not have been contaminated by contact with flies and dust, for we believe they are good citizens and in addition to desiring to comply with the law, they also desire to protect their fellow men from injury. But there are a few who will evade the law wherever it is possible to do so and it is against those who show no disposition to meet the demands of the situation that we feel the officers ought to proceed without further delay.

It will cost the merchants, fruit and vegetable vendors, dairymen and other dealers in food supplies a little more to keep their places perfectly sanitary and their supplies in a perfectly sanitary and wholesome state. But the item of additional cost is not large and is a negligible quantity when compared to the value of the health of the consuming public. Persons like a clean place and we believe the extra cost in cleaning up a place and putting it in absolutely sanitary condition and keeping only fresh and pure food supplies on hand will attract enough additional trade to permit increased profits to more than offset the cost in bringing the place up to the standard demanded by the pure food officer.

Flies and dust are the enemies of health. Where they are permitted to accumulate is no fit place for food and a store or market that refuses to bar them when the demands of health can be complied with at such a reasonable outlay, ought to be compelled to clean up. It is well enough for the pure food officers to give a few warnings in advance, but when these warnings have been given and not heeded, the time for sterner measures has arrived.

OTHER THINGS IN EDUCATION.

We were discussing a few days ago the wider field which education has come to occupy in connection with some observations set forth in the inaugural address of Dr. Frank J. Goodnow, new president of Johns Hopkins University. This had to do largely with the spreading out of educational operations to include the conquering of material nature. But there are other and finer things in education than this and in the discussion of some of these Dr. Goodnow said:

"But it is better to recognize what is undoubtedly the case: that there are other things in education than the teaching of ways in which to conquer material nature. We of European origin have a long history and an extensive literature without some knowledge of which our present life is both inexplicable and shorn of much of its attraction. There are things of the spirit which bulk as large in our lives as the knowledge and conquest of material things. In our pursuit of knowledge and in our desire to improve our material conditions we should not permit ourselves to neglect our past nor overlook the artistic side of our nature. We must in our educational institutions, as has been well said, learn how to live as well as how to make a living."

"The functions of modern education indeed are manifold: In the first place it endeavors to transmit to the present generation a knowledge of our past. It makes us of the present day acquainted with what those of bygone days did and thought, hoped for and believed. It teaches us how we should live as the heirs of a European past with all that that involves."

"In the second place, educational institutions endeavor to broaden the field of knowledge along all conceivable lines. They encourage research and investigation with no ulterior practical purpose. Without such research the conquest of nature will be impossible. Unless we can discover new principles we may reach a time when further progress will cease."

"The presence in the university of persons who, as compared with those in the outside world, may be regarded as experts in their particular lines, makes it one of the functions if not one of the obligations of our higher institutions of learning to proffer the services of their members to the communities in which they are situated. For whether these institutions are or are not what are technically known as state universities, they, in large measure, owe their establishment and their possibilities for useful work to those communities. And apart from any such obligation, it is the duty of educated men so to make use of their knowledge as to benefit the society of which they are members. The rendering of public service and preparation for rendering such service must be regarded as included among educational ideals."

Firemen in cities of over 25,000 population are now entitled to a day off out of every seven, under a law just enacted by the legislature and signed by the governor. The firemen are entitled to their day off, all right, but they should have had it without the necessity of a law upon that subject.

Suppose you drop around to church today. You may get a message that will enable you to enjoy the summer more and spend it more profitably. Your presence will at least cheer your pastor and he will need all the buoyancy that a united support can give him during the trying summer months.

(Austin Statesman.)
The Waco Times Herald nominates Tom Campbell for a third term against James E. Ferguson. S. P. Brooks of Waco fame is probably willing, for it would save the eliminators a number of cares and worries.

Brooks and the Senate.

(Cleburne Review.)
Samuel Palmer Brooks, a Johnson county boy, was elected president of the Southern Sociological congress, which recently convened at Houston, and there are a host of his friends who think he is going to be elected to the United States senate in 1918.

Surfeit of Colquitt.

(Christian Commonweal.)
The Hamilton Herald says: "The way the matter stands now, it looks like a fight to the finish between Oscar Branch Colquitt and Samuel Palmer Brooks." That settles it right, then; for surely the people have already had a surfeit of the little ex-governor.

Should Follow Mamma's Advice.

(Cleburne Review.)
A young girl attired in her brother's clothes was detained at Waco after having walked into town from her country home. She was on her way to Denison to meet her Oklahoma sweetheart, with whom she had become acquainted by mail through the offices of a matrimonial bureau. Girls, better ask mamma's advice, or some other good woman's, if you have a mother, before taking a step like that. Things which look perfectly reasonable and harmless to you may contain that which will bring destruction upon you.

No, they have to order a case or go thirsty.

A Lucky Man.

(Lott Herald.)
The Waco Morning News is our authority for this statement, that the Mount Calm Banner suspended on account of owners and compositors drawing good jobs elsewhere. How fortunate they are! Most of us have to tread through life issuing our little paper weekly without the hope of ever being offered a job. It is better to suspend for a good job than lack of support.

Eddins Will Make Good.

(Marlin Democrat.)
Prof. A. W. Eddins, retiring superintendent of the State Juvenile Training School at Gatesville, has been elected superintendent of the public schools at Athens. Now we shall expect to see Athens progress educationally in a manner worthy of the Classical name she bears.—Waco News.
Eddins is capable of doing that very thing.

Plenty of Money Here?

(Frost Star.)
At the Texas Bankers' Association in Waco this week, a sensation was sprung by one of the speakers making the statement that there was "plenty of money in the country." We are anxious that our paper supply house get this statement—our shipment of paper might be allowed to reach us without being chaperoned by "C. O. D."

Jumping at Conclusions.

(Abilene Reporter.)
The Waco Morning News "dubs" Frank P. Walsh's criticism of Texas as "jumping at a conclusion." That about tells the whole story. And it is just that thing that causes most of the trouble in this old world. We don't think enough before we speak or write. For Mr. Walsh to say that in Texas industrial conditions are the worst of any state in the union is going entirely too strong. To add that "we found conditions bordering upon serfdom" is unbearable. Walsh spent six days in Dallas and witnesses were examined from other states. For him to suppose that he could make a fair and just investigation of industrial conditions in Texas in that short time simply shows the kind of man he evidently must be—one who hears a few words on a big subject and then "jumps at a conclusion" sending it forth to the world as an established fact. A "pop-off" is a good thing for a steam boiler but should not be used by men dealing with large affairs.

Defends Mr. Burgess.

(Hamilton Herald.)
Congressman George F. Burgess, in announcing his candidacy for the United States senate, calls attention to the fact that as a member of the rivers and harbors committee of the house he has been instrumental in securing $22,000,000 in federal appropriations for Texas, and suggests that as one reason why he should be supported for the senate. But he does not tell the citizens of Texas what there is to show for this vast expenditure of the public funds.—Waco Morning News.
As we understand it, Mr. Burgess only addressed his statement to the voters of his district who had so continuously honored him with their confidence and support. He stated in his note that he had accomplished this as a member of the rivers and harbors committee which had only to do with appropriations for the improvement of rivers and harbors. The News ought to know that it was perfectly legitimate and proper for Mr. Burgess to thus acquaint his constituents with what he had done in a material way, and should not seek to create a prejudice against the Germans, or else he is catering to the political war-loving Americans in his desire to pick a quarrel with the Kaiser, as Roosevelt would do in about fifteen minutes.—Waco Morning News.
Mr. Bennett is not the only one in that boat. There are other alleged jingolts, who want war with every body. In this case, the boat should be rocked.

The Senatorial Race.

(Rogers News.)
Congressman George F. Burgess has announced that he will be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Charles A. Culberson. The announcement of Mr. Burgess makes some four or five formal entries at this early date. Each of the candidates represent different democratic views: Burgess and Colquitt are both anti and favor protection of raw materials—Colquitt being bitterly opposed to the present national democratic administration. R. L. Henry is an anti, and favors the national administration, and leans to the side of free raw materials. Judge Riddle is a pro, and favors the national administration. Dr. S. P. Brooks is a pro, and is a great admirer of Woodrow Wilson and is a staunch supporter of his administration. With so many entries, it is hardly to be expected that a nomination will be made in the first primary, for a majority vote is required under the present law. Our prediction is that Dr. Brooks will be one of the two men who enters the second primary, and his prospects of securing the nomination are excellent.

The Co-operative Tire

Goodyear has always built co-operative tires. Every saving has gone to the user. The more men bought the better we built them, and the lower we sold them.

That is why Goodyear has held top place, outselling any other tire.

3 Reductions

Note that in two years we made three big price reductions. The last—on February 1st—brought the total to 45 per cent.

Yet in costly ways these tires have been bettered. In not one iota were they ever skimmed.

Our Fortified Tire is still "On-Air" cured to save blow-outs. Yet that one extra cost us $450,000 yearly.

wires to make the tire secure. It embodies hundreds of rubber rivets, formed to combat loose treads.

Our All-Weather tread is still double-thick. It still has the sharp, tough, resistless grips.

Those extras—all exclusive to Goodyear—are all retained, despite our price reductions. And we still spend $100,000 yearly to discover new ways to better them.

In all these ways, Goodyear is your ally. You do injustice to yourself when you fail to secure this advantage. Never in tire history was such value given as you get in Goodyear tires today.

No smaller makers can ever give so much.

Any dealer will supply you. [2327]

MRS. WILKES HEAD OF COTTON PALACE WOMEN'S SECTION

Mrs. W. O. Wilkes has been named as general chairman for the women's departments of the 1915 Cotton Palace. Announcement of the appointment was made yesterday by President Asher Sanker of the Cotton Palace association. Mrs. Wilkes succeeds Mrs. A. W. Koch, who directed the women's participation in the exposition last year.

No feature of the plans for the 1915 Cotton Palace has aroused more interest than the selection of the chairman of the women's departments. Lively speculation as to the woman upon whom the choice of the president would fall had been indulged in for several weeks, and great interest taken in the outcome. With the announcement of the chairman, plans for the women's departments will begin to shape at once.

The women's department last year under the direction of Mrs. Koch was one of the greatest drawing cards of the exposition. Mrs. Wilkes' many public activities of an altruistic nature have demonstrated her fitness for the monumental task before her. In social and club life she has been one of the leaders, giving unselfishly of her time and ability for many philanthropic and charitable causes. She is one of the most popular of Waco women, and thus will have the earnest co-operation that is necessary for the success of the women's department in the large degree to which the people of Waco and the visitors to the exposition have become accustomed.

Maennerchor Let Building Contract

Contract for building the new club house of the Waco Maennerchor society was let yesterday to Smith & Tetzold. Construction will begin at once under stipulations that the building must be completely finished by Aug. 1. The building will be erected on the site of the one that burned several months ago, Thirteenth and Clay.

Exclusive of bowling alleys and furniture, the contract price of the building was $7,000. With these necessary additions, the cost of the club house will be run up to $10,000. When completed the new building will be the finest of its kind in the state. The state Saengerfest will be held in the building in 1916.

E. F. CARROLL NAMED AS COMMISSIONER FOR COTTON PALACE

E. F. Carroll is the new commissioner of the Cotton Palace, appointed yesterday by President Asher Sanker to fill the place made vacant when W. V. Crawford was elected a member of the board of directors several weeks ago. Mr. Carroll's appointment makes complete the commission.

E. F. CARROLL.

Newly appointed commissioner for Cotton Palace.

mission of three members, Ralph Mc-Lendon and Forrest Goodman being the other two members.

By much public work in connection with the Young Men's Business League, of which he is a director, Mr. Carroll has demonstrated the ability which is needed in the position to which he was appointed. Completion of the commission marks another step in perfecting the plans for the 1915 exposition. With every officer in his place, more rapid progress on preparations for the opening of the gates next fall is expected.

Mr. Carroll is vice president of the Dennis Manufacturing company, and assistant general manager for R. T. Dennis & Co.

Prof. Abbott Makes Announcement on Scholastic Census

The following announcement in regard to the scholastic census enumeration was issued yesterday by Prof. R. L. Abbott, county superintendent: "The law provides that the scholastic census rolls for each district in the county should be delivered to the county superintendent on or before June 1."

"If there is any person in the county whose children have been overlooked by the census enumerator this person will please notify the county superintendent at once, giving the name, age, sex, nationality and the district in which such children reside. He will add the names of said children to the census roll of the proper district."

WOMAN SICK IN BED AND NO PROPER FOOD

THAT IS ONE OF DISTRESSING CASES FOUND BY MISS EDWARDS, VISITING NURSE.

OTHER EXAMPLES ARE CITED

More Subscribers Needed to Carry on Work Among Poverty Stricken People.

Sick-a-bed, in need of eggs, egg drinks, ice and other wholesome things, listening to the doctor approving the instructions of the nurse as to how these articles of food ought to be prepared, but then not having any of these articles of food and nothing with which to buy them.

Rather a discouraging state of affairs, isn't it?

Yet exactly this situation was discovered the past week by Miss Laura Edwards, the public health nurse. She went into the home of a widow, the mother of five children, and the income of the family is $5 per week which a daughter makes at work down town. The mother is sick. She is badly in need of nourishment of the proper kind. The nurse was telling her what she needed—eggs properly cooked and some egg drinks, ice, and other wholesome things, and the doctor was nodding approval to the nurse's analysis of the patient's needs in the way of food.

The sick woman said nothing. Directly the nurse stepped into the kitchen to get some water and a sister of the sick woman, who had just come in from the country to help look after her so the daughter could keep on at her work, stepped into the kitchen, too, and told the nurse that while the patient needed all that had been suggested for her, she did not have any of those articles nor as much as five cents with which to pay for them. Miss Edwards saw to it that enough good food was sent down to the house to last the family over Sunday.

"One of the distressing things that I find in connection with my work is that there is so much to do and so little with which to do it," Miss Edwards said. "Yet the response that I have received at the hands of the people is beautiful. Not a single family, so far, has resented my visits. And the manner in which the majority of them have responded to my suggestions and cooperated in the promotion of their own welfare has been gratifying indeed."

"I recall one family, for instance, where a large family was living in a very small, slovenly house, hardly fit to pay rent upon. The mother and her family by cleaning up a little and trying to look respectable, whether they had all they needed or not. Finally she broke down and cried. She asked me what was the use when her husband could not get work and they had difficulty in getting enough to eat and her explanation of the dirty appearance of the children was that they did not have clothes enough to permit a change and had to wear the same ones all the time."

"It was a distressing situation, but finally I told her if she would clean up all the rags and trash about the yard and burn them, scour out and clean up the house and bathe and clean up the children I would see to it that she had some clothes for the children. The next time I went back there you would hardly have recognized the place and the children. All of them had cleaned up, and were in a position to receive and appreciate the clean clothes. That is only one example of the manner in which the people are responding, and I am very much encouraged."

"Over in another section of the city there is an old grandmother who is taking care of an 8-months-old baby while the child's mother works in town for small sum. I found the baby sick on my first visit, but I was not surprised, for I found the grandmother was feeding it everything else the adults were eating. I urged that they feed the wholesome milk. They followed this advice, and the next time I went back the baby was well and strong. Many mothers have an idea that babies just naturally sicken while they are teething. Now we see it is just as natural a process as growing hair, and the only reason for a baby to get sick, as a rule, while it is teething, is because it is being fed something which does not agree with it."

"At the recent session of the Southern Sociological congress in Houston I heard Miss Gearing of the extension department of the University of Texas say, 'If the people knew the people would make it possible to have the work done on a much larger scale. If they knew of the distress and suffering for lack of food as well as medical attention, they would see to it that the condition was remedied. I want to express my appreciation of what the M. B. Isse-Kreem company has done in providing Bulgarian butter milk at greatly reduced rates for the relief of the patients who are unable to pay the full price for it. They have made it possible for deserving people to get this milk, and it is a great asset to sick people, and their assistance has been very valuable to me.'"

Miss Edwards is inducing many of the girls to enter the sewing school and the cooking classes conducted at the Evangelia Settlement.
Mrs. W. O. Wilkes, treasurer of the advisory committee to the public health nurse, urges that all who have made subscriptions to the fund send in the money right away to her address.

BAYLOR ALUMNI PLAN FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

EVENT WILL TAKE PLACE AT HUACO CLUB ON TUESDAY NIGHT, JUNE 8.

Musical Program and List of Speakers and Committees Announced.

Plans have been perfected for what the officers of the Baylor Alumni association believe will be the best banquet in the history of the association, when the alumni and former students of the university come together for their annual spread at the Huaco club, Tuesday evening, June 8, at 8 o'clock. There will be but few speeches, the banquet committee having given the preference on the program to music. For the musical numbers some of the best talent in the city has been secured. Misses Beulah Duncan, Stella Lacy and Fern Thurman will give vocal solos, Miss Stella Wolters, who graduated in violin at Baylor this year, will contribute a violin solo, Sparkie Duncan will play a piano solo, while a male quartet among the members of the alumni association will contribute several numbers.

For the few speeches that will be made some of the best talent of the association has been secured. J. D. Willis will officiate as toastmaster. Toasts will be responded to as follows: "A Winning Team," B. E. White, Lancaster; "The Baylor Way," Hon. Pat M. Neff, Waco; "The New Baylor," Dr. H. H. Arnesworth, Waco; "Our Pioneers," Hon. Tom Connally, Marlin; "Our Girls," Dr. W. A. Hamlett, Austin.

As a pleasing variety to the program, too, there will be a reading by Miss Bernice Young.

In order that everybody in attendance upon the banquet may meet every one else, and to see that the social hour that will precede the dinner shall pass pleasantly, the standing committee on the banquet has named the following reception committee: Mr. and Mrs. M. Falkner, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. Pat M. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Neaseberry, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Harrington, Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Brooks, Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Armstrong, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Hickson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. King, Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Fisher, Mrs. Sara McReynolds, Miss Dorothy Scarborough, James Jenkins and Dr. Carl Lovelace.

To direct the decoration of the dining room at the Huaco club for this special occasion Mrs. Brooks Pearson, Mrs. E. R. Nash Jr., Mrs. Albert Boggess and Mrs. Joe Mitchell have been named, while on the committee to sell the tickets for the banquet were named Alva Bryan, Joe S. Willis, Jake Tilley, Mrs. J. W. Downs, Mrs. Richard Burlington and Frank E. Burkhalter.

The tickets, which will be $1.50 each, will go on sale tomorrow and it is the desire of the committee and the association officers that the tickets be purchased immediately in order that the committee may know how many plates to order for the banquet. The big summer dining room will be employed again this year, which is probably the most delightful summer banquet room in the city. Special car service will be arranged for the night of the banquet and every arrangement will be made for the enjoyment of those who attend.

Southwestern Gives Service Badges to Employees in Waco

District Commercial Manager H. M. Cox of the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company states that the employees of the company who had been continuously in the service for five years or more were afforded quite a pleasant surprise yesterday, when each one was presented with a neat service emblem.

The emblems for the ladies were in form of a brooch, while the gentlemen's were lapel buttons, each bearing in gold and blue enamel lettering and figure showing number of years in the service, in multiples of five.

Each emblem was mounted on a neat, white card on which was written "This emblem of service is presented in recognition of loyalty" and signed by C. A. Gates, general manager of the company.

Many of the employees at Waco have been in the service five years and over, and some as long as eighteen years, and each one who received an emblem expressed his or her delight and appreciation of the privilege to represent a corporation which had on all occasions demonstrated its consideration for its employees.

TO HOLD ORPHANAGE EXERCISES TUESDAY

GROUND TO BE BROKEN FOR NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING TO COST $30,000.

MANY CHILDREN ON WAITING LIST

Interesting Program Arranged, Including Several Addresses by Prominent Men.

Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, exercises in commemoration of the breaking of dirt for the new administration building at the Texas Methodist orphanage will occur here. This building will cost $30,000 and there will be three other auxiliary buildings erected at a cost of $10,000, including an up-to-date laundry, a workshop where the youngsters will be trained in mechanics, and a hospital with all modern facilities for caring for the sick orphans.

There are now 185 children being cared for at the Methodist orphanage here, and 215 on the waiting list who cannot be taken charge of until the new buildings are completed. When the additions are made there will be a total capacity of 400 children.

The grounds consist of eighty-one acres. Last year the boys raised nearly 2,000 bushels of corn and put up nearly 6,000 bales of hay. The dairy has thirty-two cows and the children take a great interest in the work.

Rev. R. A. Burroughs is superintendent of the orphanage. Rev. J. N. McCain, formerly pastor of the Clay Street Methodist church, this city, is the financial agent and, assisted by Rev. W. T. Gray, has met with splendid success in putting the cause before the Texas citizenship.

The following program will be rendered on the grounds at the time stated:

Music.
Song by the orphan children.
Invocation, Rev. R. E. Brown.
"Birth and Life of the Orphanage," Rev. W. H. Vaughan.
"The Orphanage and Texas Methodism," G. G. Johnson.
"Waco Methodist and the Orphanage," Rev. F. P. Culver, D. D.
"The Orphanage and Waco," Sam Sanger.
"Women and the Orphanage," Mrs. Wigley.
"The Church's Responsibility," Hqn. Tom Connally, Marlin.
"The Orphan Child," Hon. Tom L. McCullough.
"The Need of More Room," Rev. R. A. Burroughs.

The public is cordially invited, and as the exercises will be out in the open, an enjoyable afternoon will be spent by those who attend. The boys have been busy as bees the last few days in their preparation for the tremendous crowd of people which is expected to gather to see the dirt broken for the needed improvements to this worthy institution.

German-Americans of McLennan County to Meet Next Month

A mass meeting of all persons interested in the work of the McLennan county German Red Cross society has been called for June 13, to be held in the Deutscher Central Verein, beginning at 3 p. m. Notices of the meeting are signed by Ed Schneider, president, and W. H. Geisler, secretary.

The meeting will probably determine whether the work of the local society in raising money in McLennan county for the work among the wounded in the German and Austrian armies will be continued or dropped.

The local committee last week forwarded $500 to the central headquarters in New York, making a total of $2,000 that has been sent from this county. In addition a large sum has been raised among the Germans of McLennan county by the sale and exchange of the iron rings sent out by the Deutscher Historische Gesellschaft of New York. This latter fund is for

PLENTY OF MATERIAL FOR MOTHERS PROGRAM

STATE ASSOCIATION OFFERS ASSISTANCE TO LOCAL PARENT-TEACHERS' ORGANIZATIONS.

CAN AROUSE BIG INTEREST

Careful Study of Vital Problems Affecting Home and the Child Drives Away Dullness From Meetings.

The following announcements are authorized by the state press chairman of the Texas Congress of Mothers' and Parent-Teachers' associations:

Program material for free use of Parent-Teacher association meetings offered by the state organization consists of the following: Three Study courses, the Home-Makers' course, Practical Child Study, and The Home, The School, The Community. Each course is arranged for an entire year's program and contains a set of questions for each of the nine lessons. List of books that may be read in connection, and a small collection of leaflets, booklets and pamphlets, called a Package Library. The Home-Makers' course cannot be commended too highly and is far more interesting and deeply educative than its topics and subdivisions indicate. This course includes: 1. The Home, Its Plan and Duration; 2. Household Sanitation; 3. Science of the Household; 4. House Administration; 5. Study of Food; 6. Food; 7. Marketing and Care of Food in the Home; 8. Textiles and Clothing; 9. Personal Hygiene and Home-Care of the Sick; 10. Child Study and Some of its Problems.

No such valuable help has heretofore been offered to members and it behooves organizations to avail themselves of this opportunity to enrich their meetings by the selection of one of these vitally interesting and valuable courses.

In addition to the above named courses, there are study outlines arranged for a whole year's program or "Training the Boy," "Training the Girl" and "Misunderstood Children." Organizations applying for membership can state which of the above study courses they prefer by addressing the corresponding secretary or the president, Mrs. F. W. McAllister, 123 Shuman Place, San Antonio, Texas.

The Loan Paper department is provided with the following topics: Paper at a time can be obtained by applying to Mrs. L. T. Worley, corresponding secretary, general delivery, San Antonio, and requests for same should be accompanied by ten cents to cover cost of mailing. The loan paper not to be retained longer than two weeks. These loan papers are proving very beneficial and interesting, leading on to discussions which bring forth expressions from the most timid members in the meetings.

Serious Damage by Rises of Arkansas and the Missouri

Kansas City, Mo., May 29.—Interest in the flood situation in the southwest was divided tonight between conditions in Arkansas, where the Arkansas river, sweeping through breaches in levees, is doing great damage to fields, and ravages of the Missouri river in the farm lands of Central Missouri.

While preparations were being made tonight in the west bottom district of Kansas City to meet high water predicted for next day or two, there was locally little fear of a serious overflow.

Other points in Oklahoma, Kansas and Western Missouri, where high waters created critical situations practically have assumed normal shape with overflowed streams rapidly subsiding. Only light rain fell today, and fair weather was predicted for tomorrow.

Arkansas at Standstill.

Little Rock, Ark., May 29.—The Arkansas river has reached a stage of 24.5 feet at Little Rock at 7 o'clock tonight and section weather director Cole predicted 26.5 feet, the crest, will be reached Monday. At Van Buren tonight the river is reported at a standstill.

No additional serious damage was reported today. Officials of the Fourche River and Indian Territory railroad at Bigelow, Ark., announced that traffic on that road will probably be suspended for eight or nine days. This compels the stopping of several large lumber mills.

The Eastern Arkansas river are strengthened the levees in preparation for the arrival of the crest of the flood early next week.

Serious conditions are reported from virtually every point in Arkansas. Levees have broken, telephone and telegraph lines are down and train service has been hampered. Between Fort Smith and Heavener, Okla., the Kansas City Southern railroad has many places where the Arkansas river the lowlands are flooded for miles. At Pine Bluff lower portions of the city are flooded.

Rain and Lightning Visit Waco Again

Preceded by a rather brisk wind, an electrical and rain storm of short duration struck Waco at about 12:30 this (Sunday) morning. Very little rain had fallen up to 2:30, but lightning was still flashing at intervals. So far as could be learned, no damage was done.

Air Raid in Venice.

Vienna, via London, May 29.—In an air raid on Venice last night by several naval airmen a large number of bombs were dropped, causing several extensive fires and an explosion in Fort Nicolo. News of the raid is given in an official statement issued tonight by the war office.

B. V. D. Trademark Protected in Unique Patent Office Suit

The United States patent office, in a recent decision, has denied the application of Charles H. Holtzman, who used by its competitor was practically identical preparation, upon the objection of the B. V. D. Company, manufacturers of a well known line of underwear, chartered under the laws of Delaware that while the lines of goods manufactured by the opposing company was not similar to that put out by itself, that the name was so similar as to be conflicting, and to act to the detriment of the B. V. D. company.

It was contended by the opposing company that the name sought to be used by its competitor was practically identical with that used by it, and upon this contention the patent office sustained the objection under a decision of a court of appeals in the case of the Abestone company vs. the Philip Carey Manufacturing company.

T. P. & L. Company Opens Up Monday in Its New Home

The Texas Power & Light company begins business Monday morning in its new home in the Masonic temple building, on South Sixth street, which has been remodeled to fit exactly the needs of the company. ## Letter Carriers to Meet on Saturday

Delegates to the state association will be elected at a meeting of the McLennan County Rural Letter Carriers' association, to be held in Waco, Saturday night, June 5. The state association will meet at College Station in August. Call for the meeting next Saturday was issued by J. A. Coyle of Bruceville, secretary of the county association.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Forty-four criminal cases are set for next week in the county court. Senator A. R. McCollum and Representative Edgar E. Witt returned yesterday from Austin, where they attended the recent session of the legislature.

Only twelve bales of cotton were received in Waco last week by Sem Nix, public weigher. Basis middling was quoted at 84c a pound the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Douglas Brown, 1520 Chandler street, celebrating the arrival at 7:40 yesterday morning of Hal Douglas Brown Jr., who tipped the scales at nine pounds. Mother and son are both doing exceptionally well.

Beginning next Saturday the city ticket offices of the different railroads of the city will commence closing at 1 p. m. on Saturday for the summer. They will be closed in the afternoon of every Saturday until the latter part of October.

The regular summer rates for the excursions will begin this year June 1. This includes the summer rates to all points north, east and west. Quite a number have signified their intention of taking advantage of the rates to get relief from the sweltering weather coming.

All applicants for commissions as notaries public, who were not confirmed at the regular session of the legislature, were confirmed by the senate in the special session that closed Friday night, according to Senator A. R. McCollum, who, accompanied by Mrs. McCollum, returned from Austin yesterday afternoon. Those whose commissions have just been granted can qualify June 1, according to Senator McCollum, thus requiring no further delay. Both Mr. and Mrs. McCollum expressed their pleasure at being back in Waco.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Paul F. Thornton of Austin was a Waco visitor yesterday.

Frank V. L. Shurtliff of Hillsboro spent a few hours here yesterday on business.

Philip Meade is home from Bell Buckle, Tenn., where he has been attending school.

Dr. W. A. Bedford, prominent physician of Hillsboro, is registered at the Hotel Waco.

Blair Stribling has gone to Austin on a short business trip. He will return home tomorrow.

Judge J. K. Freeman of Cameron was here yesterday and attended the luncheon of the Lawyers' club.

E. Wilson, superintendent of the I. & C. N. with headquarters at Mart, was in the city yesterday for his road.

Mrs. J. W. Byars returned yesterday from Rising Star, where she had been to address the district meeting of the B. W. M. W.

Miss Mina Glass will leave for Denton this week, where she will take up her work as instructor at the state normal school.

Jim Woods, well known merchant of Pittsburg, Tex., is in the city for a stay of several days.

Mrs. E. E. Ingram, who was operated on at the Proctor sanitarium yesterday morning for appendicitis, was reported doing well last night.

F. O. Dailey, editor of the Lorena Register, was a visitor at the Morning News office yesterday. He reports everything in good shape around Lorena.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Saunders of Commerce are with Mrs. J. W. Brightwell, 427 University street, for the summer months.

Tomorrow Will Be Decoration Day

Closing of the postoffice for half a day tomorrow afternoon, with one delivery of mail in the residence district and two in the business section, will constitute the observance of National Decoration day in Waco. The banks will not close. In the north the day is observed generally, but throughout the south Confederate Memorial Day takes the place of it to a great extent.

A. E. Kalkhurst Goes to Denver Office

A. E. Kalkhurst, local manager for the Burroughs Adding Machine company, left yesterday for Denver, Colo., where he becomes manager of the Burroughs agency. Mr. Kalkhurst has made many friends during his stay in Waco and was active in the work of the Chamber of Commerce, Y. M. B. L. and Rotary club. He was also a member of the Boy Scouts' council. His friends all wish him well in his new position.

Gus Edwards' Girls Coming to Cozy

Thirty-five girls, none over 18 and none under 16, make up the school boys and girls of Gus Edwards' famous company which will play three days at the Cozy theater, June 2, 3, and 4. Mr. Edwards is just closing a long engagement at the Hancock opera house at Austin, where the company made a decided hit.

During their stay in the capital city Mr. Edwards and his girls were guests of the Rotary club in their weekly luncheon at the Driskill hotel. "Old-timers" will remember Mr. Edwards as the writer of "School Days," one of the most popular songs ever written. Mr. Edwards' performances are of the highest order, and have pleased more persons during the years of his stage career than probably any other amusement organization now existing.

Hucksters Trying to Comply With Law

Vegetable and fruit vendors in the city are making efforts to comply with the state law requiring their wares to be protected from dust, flies and dirt, according to findings by Dr. R. H. Hodges, city pure food inspector, who made investigations early yesterday morning as the vegetable and fruit wagons were receiving their day's supplies at the commission houses. All places at the commission houses, which have screened their wagons according to the law, said Dr. Hodges, Dr. Hodges announces that he will give special attention to conditions in commission produce houses, stating that the law requires stocks in these places to be screened as well.

BUSCH TEXAS PROPERTY IS WORTH $4,000,000

INVENTORIES OF ESTATE NOW BEING FILED IN COUNTIES OF STATE.

Largest Amount in Dallas With This City Second is Showing of Administrators.

The inventory and appraisal of the Adolphus Busch estate, copies of which are now being filed in the Texas counties where the properties of the estate are located, estimate at $3,000,000. In addition to that, notes on community or common property amount to $953,950, almost another million.

Almost a million dollars of the approximately four millions in Dallas, $950,000, to be exact. This includes five pieces of property, among them the sixteen-story Busch building, valued at $750,000.

Waco is second to Dallas in values, although Adolphus Busch owned four pieces of property here, estimated to be worth $275,000. At the present time, however, the Busch interests are contemplating the erection of a market and auditorium on the vacant lot across Austin avenue from the Riggins, which would enhance their holdings here very considerably.

The inventory and appraisal is large enough to be called a book of each piece of property owned by Busch during his lifetime is set out in full and the value set opposite. The report was filed by Lillie Busch, Edward A. Faust and Charles Nagle. It was made out by Nagle and sent to Texas from Berlin.

Other properties are owned by the Busch estate at Austin, Bryan, Caldwell, Corpus Christi, Navarro, Denton, Fort Worth, Galveston, Galveston, Hillsboro, Houston, Laredo, Paris, Rosebud, San Antonio, Stamford, Temple, Texarkana and Vernon.

Laredo, Tex., May 29.—Three carloads of provisions were being loaded here tonight under supervision of the American Red Cross for relief of the poor of Monterey. The shipments were expected to be out tomorrow.

ELECTROMAGNET DRAWS SHRAPNEL FROM WOUNDED OF WAR IN EUROPE

SHRAPNEL EXTRACTOR

The latest step in the science of surgery is the removal of pieces of shrapnel, steel jacketed bullets and other metal substances by the use of powerful electromagnets in the hospitals in the war zone. The electromagnets have been used in great steel works in this country for some time. Particles of steel are thus removed from under the skin and from the eye. Large numbers of these machines have been sent to the war zone.

2 Drops of "GETS-IT," Out Comes the Corn!

It's the World's Wonder; Never Fails.
You'll make goo-goo eyes at your feet, after you use "GETS-IT" and you'll find the places where those blumpy corns used to be, just as smooth as your cheek.

"How Wide is a 'GETS-IT' Smile? Well, a Good Deal Over 2 Feet!"

There's no corn or callus among the millions of feet in the world that "GETS-IT" will not remove—there's no escape.
"GETS-IT" is the new way, the simple, common-sense, sure way. It does away with greasy ointments, salves, pads, cotton rings, harnesses, knives, scissors, razors, files, and the limping and the painful, pigeon-toe walk of so many corn-plagued people. All you do is put 2 drops of "GETS-IT" on the corn shrivels up—and good bye. Nothing else in the world like "GETS-IT." Millions are using it.
There's no pain, no trouble, no changing shoes because of corns.
"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, in a bottle, or sent direct by E.
Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

St. Basil's College Closes With Term

June 9, when the present school year of St. Basil's college closes, will be the last day of the institution in Waco, according to announcement made last week. Lack of patronage was given as the cause for discontinuing the school. The college property, consisting of a brick building and 23 acres of ground, has been placed on the market.

St. Basil's college was located in Waco in 1899, with the Very Rev. T. J.
Hayes, C. S. B., as first president.
The Very Rev. T. V. Moynan, C. S. B., is at present president of the college.
Father T. F. Gignac, who died recently in Toronto, who preceded Father Moynan as president of St. Basil's, was one of the best known Catholic priests of the state. It was announced that the removal of the Basilian community from Waco would not affect other institutions controlled by the St.
Basil fathers in the state. Waco Catholics may open a parochial school to educate their boys after they have passed the age limit of the convent school at the Academy of the Sacred Heart.

Y M B L Directors Meet Tuesday Night

No hold-over business, except the trade trip matter, will occupy the attention of the directors of the Young Men's Business League in the meeting Tuesday night. President Hutchison said yesterday that nothing new had developed in the trade trips deadlock to make a report necessary at the meeting. Reports of standing committees are expected to furnish enough material for discussion to occupy the directors for several hours.

SCHOOL GARDENS FOR CITY CHILDREN

THEY SHOULD BE UNDER SCHOOL SUPERVISION TO GET BEST

BUREAU OF EDUCATION'S VIEW

Definite Information on Plans and Procedure Announced by It After Extensive Investigation.

"The school-garden idea is not a fad," declares Dr. C. D. Jarvis of the U. S. Bureau of Education. "It is an outward expression of an inborn belief on the part of hundreds of teachers and educators throughout this and other lands that children need some kind of active experience to vi-talize their school duties. It is also an expression on the part of thousands of parents of the belief that in order to acquire habit of industry and to appreciate the dignity of labor, boys and girls at an early age should be encouraged to engage in some kind of wholesome employment. Furthermore, the various welfare associations, the International Child-Welfare league in particular, are embracing the garden movement with the belief that through it thousands of boys and girls may be saved from the evils attending confinement in the shops, the mills and the mines.

Reason for Former Failures.

"In general, a varying degree of success has followed the efforts of individual teachers and of the various organizations. Too often, however, extensive garden projects have been undertaken without a carefully prearranged program, without any provision for instruction and supervision, and without sufficient funds to properly administer the enterprise.
On account of these and other causes there have been some failures. These failures, however, have served to make us more cautious and have helped us to formulate plans for the future development of the work.

"Although the school officials generally appreciate the importance of gardening, they have been slow to take it up as a part of the school program.
They would like to see the work standardized and a definite program substituted for the chaotic mass of recommendations. The lack of well-organized examples of garden activities has probably been the retarding factor."

Survey by Bureau of Education.

To satisfy the demand for some definite information, Dr. Jarvis points out, the U. S. Bureau of Education recently conducted a survey of the school-garden work throughout the country. As a result of this survey a plan for the introduction and promotion of garden work in the schools has been made available to school officials.

"The plan is a simple one. It is an economical one. It does not in any way interfere with the present school program. It provides for intelligent instruction and thorough supervision.
It provides for the utilization of unused land and labor for productive purposes. The children working closer to the soil will find a way.
This plan may contribute to the support of the family, teaching them
the fundamental principles of democracy and enabling them to remain longer in school. Under this plan also the children are given an opportunity for an active experience to vitalize school studies and an opportunity for acquiring a knowledge of an occupation that may become the means of a livelihood. The plan further provides for a wholesome occupation for boys and girls while out of school and thus stimulates industry at the receptive age and guards against the evils attending idleness. An additional result of the plan in operation is an improvement of home surroundings—back yards are cleaned up and the home grounds ornamented with shrubbery and flower borders.

Reaches Every City School.

"The plan provides for a system of home gardening in each city graded school. The home garden has many advantages over the so-called school garden where a large number of children are brought together and each given a small plot of ground on which to plant a few pennies worth of seeds.
The child's garden in the home back yard, when under school supervision, will supply every opportunity offered by the school garden and will do much more. It assures a closer relationship between home and school and promises a better understanding between parent and teacher. It obvi-ates many of the troubles of the school

G. H. PENLAND, Trustee

garden, such as that of stealing, fen-locking, protection, limited funds, summer vacation, insufficient land, and others. The home garden further more usually provides sufficient ground to grow enough produce to supply the home and to put the enterprise on a commercial or business basis. The child with a garden embracing 2500 square feet or over is able to raise at least ten dollars worth of produce and to obtain a fair idea of the possibilities of gardening. Such a proposition tends to broaden the child's vision.

"The home garden also is usually large enough to keep the child occupied while out of school and at an occupation that is wholesome and under the eye of the parents. It provides at the same time for closer companionship between parent and child and encourages the idea of mutual helpfulness.

Teachers Employed for 12 Months.
"In general the bureau's recommendation to schools regarding home-garden work is to engage in each graded school one teacher who is prepared by training and experience to take charge of the garden work for the whole school. Such teacher should be engaged for 12 months, and with the understanding that she should devote the regular number of hours to teaching the usual school grades, and that the garden work should be done after school hours, on Saturdays and holidays, and during the summer vacation. Arrangements may, if desired, be made to give a vacation to the garden teacher during the winter. Such a teacher will demand a higher salary to compensate her for the extra service. In a large city where many such teachers have been employed the services of a garden specialist as supervisor would be helpful.

"In the larger schools, where the enrollment exceeds three hundred or more additional teachers will be necessary, for one teacher should not be expected to supervise properly more than about 150 back-yard gardens. Experience has shown that as much produce can be raised from this number of well-supervised gardens as from twice the number of gardens inadequately supervised.

Getting Land.
"The teacher should assist the pupils by way of securing land when back yards are not available. Nearby vacant lots may usually be procured for the purpose. The teacher also assists the children in planning their gardens and ordering their seed in advance of the planting season.
She instructs them in the starting of plants in the window and in hot-beds and she demonstrates the methods of fertilizing, spading, raking, hoeing, watering, weeding, thinning, marketing and canning. Early in the season
she works with groups of children.
One afternoon she will announce that the children in a certain block will meet in John Smith's back yard for a demonstration in preparing the soil and planting the seeds. The following afternoon she will repeat the performance in Mary Jones back yard for the benefit of the children in that section. This program is continued until the field has been covered. After the spring rush she works with the individuals, making sure that they are keeping up a succession of cropping and are making the very best use of their land and their efforts."
These recommendations, according to Dr. Jarvis, are intended for the ordinary city school. In a few of the larger cities, on account of an absence of back yards, the plan can not be worked out perfectly, but in more cities there are more back yards and vacant lots available than is generally believed. In the more congested cities the effort should be to approach as nearly as possible this ideal.

All the available land should be utilized and the typical school-garden with its small plots may be the nearest approach. The resourceful teacher usually will find a way.
It is the hope of Dr. Jarvis that all who are interested in the promotion of this important work will bend their efforts toward standardizing the garden work in schools.

Winning— In Sport or Business

is seldom a matter of luck, but the result of well directed effort.

Here's where food plays a big part. Not necessarily a large amount of food, but well-balanced, easily digested food in proper quantity.

Grape-Nuts

is that kind of food.

Made of wheat and barley, it retains in correct proportion all the nutriment of these grains, and is particularly rich in the mineral elements—
essential builders of brain, nerve and muscle.

Grape-Nuts comes ready to eat from the fresh-sealed package—crisp and delicious. The rich, nut-like flavour and wonderful nutriment of this concentrated, easily digested food have proved to thousands—

SANGER STORETORTIAL

The Second Annual "June White Sale"

In inaugurating the first annual June White Sale just a year ago tomorrow we stated to our patrons that the "June White Sale" was not just a Summer "Hurrah" to lure you to this store only to go away disappointed, but a sale with a purpose and that purpose was to demonstrate in no uncertain terms the enormous buying power of Sanger Brothers of Texas. And we "made good" on the first June White Sale—we did the largest June business in our history and we pleased (more than merely satisfied) our patrons.

And now we announce the Second Annual "June White Sale." We have spent months in preparing for this great event. We have gone to the largest manufacturers in this country with orders sufficiently large to demand and secure great price concessions and we have assembled even greater values than those of last year. We have insisted on the best qualities. We have been exacting as to the correctness of the styles and the perfectness of the finish of all articles. We have made prices still lower than before. Practically every department in this store contributes extraordinary low prices for the "June White Sale" of 1915.

We invite you to come and take advantage of the low prices that go into effect tomorrow with the same assurance of pleasing satisfaction in your dealings at these low prices as though you paid regular prices.

Sanger Brothers

All Goods Charged Tomorrow, May 31st, will be entered on June Accounts.

We Invite Everybody to See the Wonderful Electrically Operated Working Model of the

Panama Canal

This wonderful exhibition begins tomorrow, May 31st, at 2 p. m., and will continue throughout the entire week.

It presents a topographically correct miniature of the Panama Canal, thirty feet long, with every mountain, every lake, all railroads, all locks, etc., giving a clear idea of the workings of the world-famous American engineering achievement. It shows plainly Balboa Hill in the Panama Canal Zone, which is the only point in the world from which one may see both the Atlantic and the Pacific waters at the same time. So many of our accepted ideas are reversed in the Panama Canal that every citizen owes it to himself to see the Operating Model of the Canal and the Canal Zone. For instance, the location of the city of Panama, on the Pacific side of the Canal, is such that to a resident the sun rises out of the Pacific waters. This and many other points will be explained to you by the famous lecturers who are to be here for this purpose.

The Exhibit and the Lectures Are Free

And beginning tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock will be conducted every half hour.

Every man, woman and child, should endeavor to see this model of the Panama Canal and to hear the interesting lectures given every half hour. For in no better way can you secure a correct idea of the operation of the Canal and the tremendous difficulties that confronted the great American engineers in its building.

Take Elevator to Second Floor for This Exhibit.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.

The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

DINNER MENU.

Cream of Asparagus Soup.
Roast Beef.
Boiled Potatoes. Celery and Cabbage in Green Peppers.
Orange Soufflé.

THE housekeeper has been wishing for the last four or five months to see plenty of fresh vegetables and fruits on her table. Now, since the spring days have appeared, her wishes are a realization. It is her duty as an efficient housekeeper to have as many and as large a variety of fresh vegetables as she can. Vegetables, like fruits, are rich in water, and therefore they do much to quench the thirst. Celery is 95 per cent water. Minerals occur in all vegetables, and cellulose or the woody part is their framework. Some of the vegetables, such as peas, potatoes and beans, are especially rich in starch, while beets have a large amount of sugar qualities. In cooking strong juiced vegetables it is necessary to use plenty of water. In vegetables high in sugar and soluble, such as peas and carrots, as little water as possible should be used. In preparing vegetables it is highly important that they should be well cleaned and washed. If not, they become a carrier of disease. Most vegetables need plenty of boiling to soften the cellulose.

Celery and Cabbage Salad.
Hollow out green peppers and fill with chopped celery and cabbage in equal parts. Fill either with mayonnaise or with vinaigrette dressing.

Potato Salad.
Use a cupful of diced boiled potatoes. Mix with it a fourth cupful of sliced celery. Garnish with dressing and a hard boiled egg. Enough dressing should be used to coat and to flavor the whole.

Orange Soufflé.
Heat two tablespoonfuls butter and add the same amount of flour. Pour in one-fourth cupful milk and cook until smooth. Mix one-fourth cupful sugar with the same amount of lemon juice. Combine the two. Add yolks and then beaten whites. Bake until brown. If you desire to give more flavor use a whole lemon and half a cupful sugar.

Vegetable Croquettes.
Cook one cupful each of potatoes, carrots and beans until tender. Use two stalks of celery and one onion. Mash and form into croquettes. Roll in egg and breadcrumb. Fry brown and serve hot and garnish with parsley.

Mashed Parsnips.
Peel them and boil till very tender, rub through a colander and season with pepper, salt and butter; also add a little cream or milk if you like.

WACOLAWYERSHONOR JUSTICE J. E. YANTIS

APPOINTMENT MEETS WITH HIGH FAVOR AMONG MEMBERS OF M'LENNAN COUNTY BAR.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE MADE

Luncheon Club Passes Resolutions Rejoicing in Elevation of Friend to Supreme Court.

The regular meeting of the Lawyers' Lunch club yesterday at noon at the Higgins hotel developed into a reception, at which Judge J. E. Yantis, a member of the club, who was Friday appointed to be associate justice of the state supreme court by Governor Ferguson, was the honor guest. Addresses of Hon. Tom Connally of Marlin, James Freeman of Cameron, Judge Erwin J. Clark and Judge Tom L. McCullough of Waco, all contained references highly complimentary to Judge Yantis. When Mr. Yantis arose to speak, upon being called upon by President Naman, he was greeted with an ovation that lasted for several minutes.

Suggesting that it was fitting that the Waco Lawyers' Lunch club and the Waco bar show its appreciation of the honor bestowed upon a member, and their high regard for Judge Yantis, Judge McCullough moved that the president appoint a committee to plan for a suitable recognition of the honor, same to be in the nature of a farewell banquet to Judge Yantis. President Naman stated that he would appoint the committee at a later date.

In introducing Judge Yantis to the club, President Naman said that it was seldom that one so young was permitted to introduce an associate justice of the supreme court, and that as the opportunity had come his way, he did not propose to miss it. An ovation lasting several minutes greeted Judge Yantis as he rose to speak. He expressed feelingly his gratitude for the kind things that had been said about him by the club members and other members of the Waco bar.

Judge Erwin J. Clark, Allan D. Sanford and R. V. McClain were appointed as a committee to draft suitable resolutions from the club, congratulating the governor upon his choice.

Resolutions Adopted.

The committee formulated the following resolutions:

"Be it resolved, by the Lawyers' Lunch club of Waco:

"That we unreservedly endorse and approve the action of Governor Ferguson in appointing Hon. J. E. Yantis associate justice of the supreme court of the state.

"That we give this endorsement and approval with full realization of the high qualities of soul and heart and mind necessary to render a man fit in every particular to occupy this exalted position, and with personal knowledge that Mr. Yantis possesses all of these qualities.

"That while we rejoice with our friend and professional brother in the honor bestowed upon him, yet we feel sorrow in losing personal association and contact with him as friend, neighbor and lawyer.

"ERWIN J. CLARK,
"ALLAN D. SANFORD,
"R. V. MCCLAIN,
"Committee."

Many Congratulations.

Only once before has a Wacoan been named of the Texas supreme court, Justice Richard Coke, and that was years ago. Judge George Clark was a member of the court of criminal appeals, so Judge Yantis will be the third member of the McLennan county bar to sit on one of the state's highest tribunals.

Judge Yantis was kept busy yesterday acknowledging congratulations, many of them coming over the wires from his friends elsewhere. Governor Ferguson himself also received many messages, conveying felicitations over the appointment, among them being the following from Judge Erwin J. Clark of the Seventy-fourth district court:

"Waco, Tex., May 29.—Gov. James E. Ferguson, Austin, Tex.: Permit me to express my gratitude to you for the appointment of Hon. J. E. Yantis as associate justice of the supreme court of Texas. The members of this bar are deeply appreciative of the honor so worthily bestowed.

"Yantis was a friend and neighbor, a citizen never was a friend more loyal, a jurist truer to his civic duties, or a jurist more conscious of the obligations of his honored profession than Judge Yantis.

"You have given the people of this state a judge, clear, fearless, conscientious and thoroughly qualified for the exalted trust imposed.

"E. J. CLARK."

It is probable that Judge Yantis will leave tomorrow for Austin to assume his new duties. The present term of court will last one month, but Judge Yantis does not expect to return to Waco until the first of October.

Best wishes of his many Waco friends go with him as he takes up the duties of his position with which he has been honored.

Chamber of Commerce Membership to Be Guests of Directors

Dinner Will Be Special Feature of Annual Meeting on Eighth of June.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce will be guests of the directors at a dinner June 8 which will form a part of the annual general membership meeting of the organization. The place of holding the meeting will be decided upon during the present week. On account of the manifold activities of the Chamber of Commerce during the last year, it is expected that a record percentage of the membership will be present to hear the reports of the president and secretary.

Chief in interest among the activities of Secretary Drake has been the origination and carrying out of the Pig-for-Every-Boy plan, which has gained a great deal of publicity all over the country. Farmer boys and girls of McLennan county, through the assistance of Mrs. Drake, are raising 251 registered pigs, expected to furnish an object lesson to their fathers, the farmers, which will result in saving to McLennan county a great part of the large sum now spent annually for pork and hog products. Officers and directors for the next year will also be chosen at the meeting June 8.

City Taxes Paid in Last Two Days More Than $30,000

Taxes to the amount of $30,000 passed over the counter in the office of City Tax Collector R. L. Strubling during the last two days of the week just passed. Monday is the last day in which persons may who paid half of their tax on April 1 may pay the balance and escape the penalty. On Mr. Strubling's books there remains about $100,000 to be paid Monday if the penalty is to be avoided. Persons who did not pay any of their taxes by April 1 represent about $30,000.

Mr. Strubling announced yesterday that in case the second half of the taxes is not paid by June 1, the penalty will apply on both the first half paid April 1 and the amount paid.

Ad Club to Discuss Meeting Changes on Thursday Night

Whether the Waco Ad club shall change the place or hour or both place and hour for the regular bi-monthly luncheons will be discussed at the meeting of the club Thursday at 6:30 p. m. This was one of the questions propounded by the educational committee and answered by the members at the last meeting. A majority of the members favored a change in place, but not in the hour.

Pursuing the plan recently adopted by the educational committee to place one member of the committee in charge of the program each week, thus rotating the responsibility, L. S. Henry will be in charge of the program tonight. A. G. Steele, C. J. Clanton, W. H. Hoffmann and W. S. Rathel have been named to lead the discussion, which will be participated in by the members.

Some new and encouraging reports on the progress of the "On-to-Chicago" movement will probably be received at the meeting Thursday night.

First Presbyterian Sixtieth Anniversary Will Be Observed

Preparations are under way for the celebration by the First Presbyterian church of its sixtieth anniversary, which will be June 13. The exercises will include an address by the long-time pastor of the church, Dr. S. A. King, and special music by the choir. The church was founded in 1855, being called the First Presbyterian church of McLennan county, and had its home on South Second street. Later the building at Ninth and Austin was erected, where they remained until two years ago, when the beautiful building at Eleventh and Austin was constructed.

Dr. King was called as pastor of the church during the Civil war in 1863 and remained at its head until 1903, when he resigned to accept the position at the seminary at Austin. Dr. C. T. Caldwell was then called as pastor and its present leader of the body.

Dr. King will deliver an address if he is able, but if his state of health does not permit, Dr. Caldwell will read it.

PROS AT MARLIN WANT AN ELECTION HELD

SINCE ROSEBUD WENT DRY THE MOVEMENT HAS GAINED HEADWAY.

Are Undecided Whether It Shall Be for the City Only or Whole County.

Marlin, May 29.—Since the "going dry" at Rosebud in the recent election was effected, there has been a decided movement on foot in this city and throughout the county to make Marlin dry, and several secret meetings have been held at various times in Marlin, the result of which, it is stated, will be an election within a few weeks.

The question on which the prohibitionists are alleged to be divided at present is that of whether to have a county or city election, the pros determining to have both, if necessary to make the place dry. Another meeting will be held this week at which the matter will be decided.

Escape from Marlin Jail.
Marlin, May 29.—This morning after breakfast, while the officers were away, a white man, confined in the city jail and charged with drunkenness, pried one of the bars loose from its holdings in the window and forced his body through, successfully making his escape. He has not been heard of since, but it is thought he went to his home near Perry.

Graduation Recital of Miss Mable Rowan.

On Tuesday afternoon, May 25, Miss Mable Rowan, pupil of Mr. Joseph Evans, appeared in graduation piano recital at Carroll chapel, Baylor University. One of Miss Rowan's good points is a full, well-balanced tone and clear-cut style. In the Bach's Invention in B flat and the first movement of the Moonlight Sonata, her playing was especially good. The three Preludes, Nos. 15, 18 and 22, especially the No. 15, were well played, while the fresh, vigorous, young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe. There's a simple, old-fashioned remedy which will always do the work. Get an ounce of pure mercuric iodine from your pharmacist and apply it at night like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. The wax will gently absorb all the lifeless complexion, as fresh as a child's. Naturally it takes with it all such facial blemishes as freckles, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples. It is low priced, pleasant to use, and economical. The face so treated soon looks years younger.

To keep the skin free from wrinkles there's nothing quite so good as the old reliable mercuric iodine. It is only necessary to dissolve an ounce of powdered iodine in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face in this as required.

Miss Jessie Jackson in Piano Recital.

Mrs. C. C. McCulloch presented her pupil, Miss Jessie Jackson, in piano recital last Wednesday afternoon at the Progress club rooms. The program was a difficult one, the Chopin Fantasia Impromptu, Liebestraume by Weber, Liszt, and Rondo Brillante, by Weber, being among the compositions played. Miss Jackson is a talented and earnest student and her playing reflected credit on both herself and her teacher. In the Ruff "La Filleuse" and Chopin "Fantasia" her finger technique was clear and even. Other numbers were Gobelet by Sinding, audience favorite; Poldini, Lechetzky's left hand arrangement of the Sextette from Lucia, Echoes de Ballet, by Rosery, Godard's Valse Charming, and a transcription by Pease of "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Miss Erma Voss Gives Graduation Recital.

In the graduation piano recital of Miss Erma Voss, Mr. Joseph Evans presented one of his best players of classical music.

Miss Voss played the Gavotte and Musette in G minor by Bach, and the "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

Miss Mary Edna Boothe in Graduation Recital.

Miss Mary Edna Boothe, pupil of Mr. Joseph Evans of Baylor University, gave her graduation piano recital in Carroll chapel Thursday afternoon, May 27.

Miss Boothe also receives the A. B. degree from Baylor University, so deserves great credit for having completed the course in piano. That her work has been of the most earnest and intelligent was shown in the program which she gave. In the Tone Poem "Erkik," by Grieg, the "Wienawski," "Krysak," and the "Chamade," "Ald de Ballet," the tone work which characterizes the Evans pupils was in evidence.

EASY TO PREVENT MOSQUITOES.

A Few Simple Measures Will Insure Absence of "Wingglers."

"No one is so specially fond of mosquito bites, or at least we have not learned of such a person," writes Prof. J. E. McClintock. "In fact, the irritation from mosquito bites is often intense. The pain may be relieved by wetting the affected area with diluted ammonia, the ordinary household ammonia answering the purpose very well. But why the continued annual torment of mosquitoes?"

"These pests do not fly far from their birthplace, which is some collection of stagnant water. This need not be in a pond or swamp; in fact, it is more often in rain barrels, open cisterns, tin cans, broken crockery, small pools, depressions in eaves, or in any other place where a few wrigglers may exist for a few days. It is far more satisfactory to prevent the mosquitoes from breeding around the house than to be everlastingly fighting mosquitoes and doctoring their bites."

"Fish, if kept in any small ponds free from the premises, will keep them from breeding. Tin cans and other rubbish should be cleaned up, wet, damp places drained, rain barrels and cisterns covered and repeatedly cured with a film of kerosene. A very small quantity of kerosene is sufficient to kill the mosquitoes."—Columbus (O.) Dispatch.

A NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, backache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia pains, to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these tortures. She feels it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself—no home, as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery banishes uric acid from the blood, loosens the stiffened joints, purifies the blood, and brightens the eyes, giving elasticity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box R, Notre Dame, Ind.

THE HAIR BEAUTY THAT BELONGS TO YOU

So many who have long known that hair beauty was certain to follow hair systematic hair care have been loath to commence what they mistakenly think too much trouble. Proper hair care means only keeping the scalp and hair perfectly clean by shampooing, not for general cleansing. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of Cantrox from your druggist. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with use of some preparation made for shampooing. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

Many Honors for Miss Lawson.

To have received one scholarship, four diplomas and five medals at 18 years of age is quite a distinction, yet this is the record of Miss Louise Lawson, the talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lawson of this city. Miss Lawson has just been notified of her appointment to a scholarship in music at Baylor University next year.

On June 7 she will receive a diploma from Baylor University. She has received diplomas in the past from the Stamford high school, Stamford College and Crabb's conservatory at Dallas. She has received five medals for proficiency in music and one in expression. It is her plan to pursue graduate work in music at Baylor next year employing her scholarship to that end.

Dangerous Diseases of Childhood

Washington, May 28.—The latest report on mortality in the "registration area" of the United States, relating to the calendar year 1913, issued not long ago by the Bureau of Census, department of commerce, contains some interesting and significant figures with reference to various children's diseases, some of which are far more deadly than is commonly supposed.

Diphtheria.

Among epidemic diseases the most prolific cause of child mortality is diphtheria. In 1913 this malady resulted in 11,920 deaths throughout the registration area—the population of which in that year was about 65 per cent of the total for the country—and of this number 10,513, or 88 per cent, were deaths of children under 16. Infants appear to be much less susceptible to diphtheria before the first year of life is complete than during the next few years. The numbers of deaths due to this cause in 1913 were, for children under 1, 212; between 1 and 2, 1857; between 2 and 3, 1781; between 3 and 4, 1498, and between 4 and 5, 1293.

The death rate (for all ages) from diphtheria in 1913 was 18.8 per 100,000 population for the entire registration area. This represents a very great decrease as compared with the corresponding death rate in 1906—43.3 per 100,000—when the census bureau made its first annual collection of mortality statistics. While the death rates from diphtheria vary greatly in different states, in general they are higher in the east than in the north central and western states. They are especially low in Washington and Montana, where, in 1913, they were 3.1 and 5.5 per 100,000 population, respectively. The rates in cities of 10,000 and over were about 50 per cent higher than in smaller places. The mortality among colored persons from diphtheria is decidedly lower than among whites, the rates for the two classes in 1913 being 11 per 100,000 for the former and 19.3 for the latter.

Measles.

It will surprise many to learn that measles—often thought of as a necessary but comparatively unimportant malady of childhood—claimed a greater number of victims in 1913 and, for that matter, in a number of earlier years, including 1910, 1911 and 1912, than the more dreaded scarlet fever. The total mortality from measles in the registration area in 1913 was 8108. Of this number, 2611 deaths, or about one-fourth, were of infants under 1 year of age; 4573, or 56 per cent, were of children under 2; and 7236, or 89 per cent, were of children under 16. It is a peculiarity of this disease that the deaths due to it are most numerous in the second year of age rather than in the first. Among children of 2 and over, however, the mortality from measles decreases rapidly with each added year; and after a child has passed the age of 10 the prospect of his succumbing to this disease is very slight indeed.

The death rate from measles fluctuates violently between 1906 and 1913, reaching its lowest point, 7 per 100,000, in 1912 and its highest, 12.8 per 100,000, in 1913. The rate in 1906, however, 12.5, differed but slightly from that in 1913. In the latter year there was almost a general epidemic of measles throughout the United States, and some of the states showed remarkably high mortality rates from this cause. The highest, 31.6, was that of Utah, while Colorado, a neighboring state, reported the lowest, 4.

Colored persons, whose death rate from all causes combined is about 60 per cent greater than that of whites, for some reason are slightly less susceptible to measles. In 1913 the death rate among the white population from this disease was 12.9 per 100,000, while among the colored it was 11.4. The importance and seriousness of this hitherto lightly considered malady, and of the complications that may result from it, are now being more widely recognized by health authorities, with the result that in most cities cases of measles among school children are quarantined in an effective manner.

Whooping Cough.

Whooping cough, like measles, takes a greater toll of child life than is generally supposed. This troublesome ailment caused a total of 6332 deaths throughout the registration area in 1913. The deaths of infants under 1 year of age numbered 3442, or 54 per cent of the total; of children under 2, 4958, or 78 per cent; and of children under 10, 6253, or 99 per cent.

The death rate from whooping cough, 10 per 100,000, was materially lower in 1913 than in 1906, when it was 12.1, but it fluctuated violently during the intervening years, its highest and lowest points being 15.3 in 1903 and 6.5 in 1904. In 1911, 1912 and 1913, as well as in several earlier years, whooping cough caused more deaths than scarlet fever.

The mortality rate from this disease varies widely in different states, but in general is rather higher in southern than in northern and western localities. The lowest rate, 4.4 per 100,000, was found in California, while the second was third lowest, 5.1 and 6.6, were reported by Maine and Minnesota, respectively. The highest three rates, 23.3, 15.4 and 13.7, were those of Kentucky, Maryland and Ohio, respectively.

Whooping cough is considerably more prevalent in rural than in urban localities, although the reverse is true in the case of most causes of death. The rate for this disease in cities of 10,000 and over in 1913 was 8.9 per 100,000, while in smaller places it was 11.3.

Scarlet Fever.

Scarlet fever was the cause of 5498 deaths in the registration area in 1913, of which number 4521, or 82 per cent, were of children under 10. Unlike measles and whooping cough, however, scarlet fever is responsible for comparatively few deaths of very young children. For infants under 1 year of age the mortality from this disease was 255, compared with 2011 for measles and 3442 for whooping cough; for children of 1 to 2 it was 618, compared with 2562 for measles and 1516 for whooping cough; and for children between 2 and 3 it was 798, compared with 1117 for measles and 596 for whooping cough. After the age of 3 is passed, however, the danger of death from scarlet fever, while it becomes less with each added year of life, is still greater than the danger from measles or whooping cough. In other words, measles is especially to be dreaded in the case of children under 3, and whooping cough in the case of those under 2, while the death rate from scarlet fever is more nearly uniform at the various ages of childhood, being greatest for children between 2 and 3 and smallest for those under 1.

The death rate (for all ages) from scarlet fever in 1913, 8.7 per 100,000, was somewhat less than in 1906, when it was 10.2. In the intervening years it fluctuated, its highest point, 13.1, being reached in 1901, and its lowest, 6.7, in 1905 and again in 1912. The rate varies greatly in different states, but the unusually high and unusually low rates do not seem to be confined to any particular section of the country. The mortality from this malady, however, is about twice as high in places of 10,000 and over as in smaller places. Colored persons, while not entirely immune from scarlet fever, are far less susceptible to it than are whites, the death rate of the former in 1913 being less than one-third as high as that of the latter.

Other Causes of Death.

These epidemic diseases, however, are not the most potent causes of infant mortality. Among children under 10, 51,398 deaths in 1913 were due to diarrhoea and enteritis, 36,999 to the several forms of pneumonia, 8325 to tuberculosis in its various forms and 4952 to acute bronchitis. Of the deaths resulting from diarrhoea and enteritis, 47,605 were of children under 2. The mortality rates from these and a number of other important causes, however, have shown very encouraging declines in recent years—so much so, in fact, that the infant of today has materially better prospects of reaching manhood or womanhood than one born 10 or 15 years ago.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Horse Dentition.

To the Waco Morning News:
 In the horse there are 44 teeth, known as incisors, canines or tusks, and molars and pre-molars. In a colt there are 24 of these teeth, known as milk teeth, all of which appear and are complete within a year after its birth. All of these milk teeth are shed or dropped and replaced by the permanent teeth by the time the horse has reached five years, or maturity.

The first of these milk teeth, or colt teeth, to appear are the first and second milk molars, about five days after the colt is born. Then in about seven to ten days from birth the first upper central incisor appears, and this is followed by the second incisor at one month; then the third molar and finally the third incisor.

At about two and a half years the first pre-molar replaces its predecessor. Between two and a half and three years the first permanent incisor appears. At three years the second and third pre-molars and the third true molar have appeared. At from three and a half to four years the second incisor, at four to four and a half years the third incisor, completing the permanent dentition. The canines or tusks are often quite rudimentary or entirely absent in the female horse. Thus it will be seen that the teething process of a colt or horse is almost precisely similar to, and as equally complex and as divinely beautiful and orderly in its fitness and arrangement as that of a child, or of the human species. The colt, too, as the child, when teething, shedding its milk teeth, is susceptible to the same ills and will often droop and suffer with fever, lassitude, lowered vitality, and in rare instances, especially when complicated with other ailments, as distemper, for instance, may prove positively fatal or very injurious, and when fed on highly concentrated food or grain, and confined in close, narrow lot or quarters, with little or insufficient exercise (of all domestic animals, the greatest evil, injury and punishment that can possibly befall a colt or young horse), the evil and danger is greatly multiplied and aggravated. Hence, the teeth of the colt at this period, as of the child, should have watchful care and attention.

Living Too Long.

(Philadelphia Record.)
 Some time ago an office boy answering the telephone for the first time in his life, and not knowing how to use it, was told that when the bell rang he was to answer it.
 When, therefore, he heard it ring, he picked up the receiver and shouted: "Hello, who's there?"
 The answer came back: "I'm one hundred and five."
 "Go on," said the boy. "It's time you were dead."

June White Sale at Sanger Store Begins Tomorrow

Sanger Brothers announce in two full-page advertisements in this paper today their second Annual June White Sale. The first June White Sale was held by Sanger Brothers just one year ago tomorrow. The sale was inaugurated as set forth in their announcements at the time, not for a summer hurrah, but for the purpose of demonstrating the ability of Sanger Brothers of Texas to underbid and to undersell and at the same time to give to the store's patrons the advantage of enjoying the fruits of the commercial prestige of the Sanger store. Sanger Brothers at the end of the spring season go to the largest manufacturers of merchandise with orders sufficiently large to secure and demand price concessions on goods that are produced for the summer months, and the June sale is made possible by reason of the buying ability of the Sanger store.

Especially are the savings notable in the muslin underwear department, in the wash goods, silks, and linen departments, as well as in shoes, hosiery, gloves and other dress accessories. As an added feature to the white waist sale, white skirt sale, white dress sale, and other white apparel sales for women, misses and children in the ready-to-wear department of the second floor, Sanger Brothers are offering for tomorrow their entire stock of women's spring suits at half their regular selling prices. The third floor departments contribute white curtain sales and sales of white matting and white matting rugs. Practically every department of the Sanger store contributes exceptionally low priced merchandise for the June sale. The Sanger advertisements, two pages in all, carry full and complete details with prices for the June white sale.

The fact that the Panama Canal working model is to be on exhibition at the Sanger store during the first week of the June white sale affords the opportunity for those living out of town as well as those who live in the city to take advantage of both events in visiting the Sanger store.

Religion and Business.

Some two years ago J. P. Morgan testified that to him character was the bottom fact in business; that he trusted a man and dealt with him primarily on that basis. This aroused a great deal of carping comment, but it always seemed plain to us that Morgan knew what he was saying. And now we find the Wall Street Journal predicting the coming of a great religious revival as one result of the European war, and insisting that this possibility is of infinite concern to business men. The Journal believes that nine-tenths of the evils from which business suffers can be ended by religious feeling, though beyond the reach of law. Religious faith is a "better remedy and a better promise for future business management under the best standards of honor and humanity than anything congress can enact or the department of justice can enforce." This is the final truth about our trade and industry, and it is most clearly seen and surely held by those who know most about business—Collier's Weekly.

Rebuked.
 He was deeply in love with his wife, but awfully careless about money matters. He started away on a long business trip, leaving her short of money, and promising to send her a check—which he forgot to do. The rent came due and she telegraphed: "Dead broke. Landlord insistent. Wire me money."
 Her husband answered: "Am short myself. Will send check in few days. A thousand kisses."
 Exasperated, his wife replied: "Never mind money. I gave landlord one of the kisses. He was more than satisfied."—New York Times.

A Problem.
 Little Elizabeth and her mother were having luncheon together, and the mother, who always tried to impress facts upon her young daughter, said: "These little sardines, Elizabeth, are sometimes eaten by the larger fish."
 Elizabeth gazed at the sardines in wonder, and then asked: "But, mother, how do the large fish get the cans open?"—New York Evening Journal.

STOP CALOMEL! TAKE DODSON'S LIVER TONE

New Discovery! Takes Place of Dangerous Calomel—It Puts Your Liver To Work Without Making You Sick—Eat Anything—It Can Not Salivate—Don't Lose a Day's Work!

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to try a bottle and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work. I want to see a bottle of this wonderful liver medicine in every home in the South.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it cannot salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Get a bottle! Try it! If it doesn't do exactly what I say, tell your dealer to hand your money back. Every druggist and storekeeper in the South knows me and knows of my wonderful discovery of a medicine that takes the place of dangerous calomel.

In choosing your Drink

You first think of

Bottle Coca-Cola

Because you are reminded of it so often. But you ask for it, as others do, for the sake of its delicious, thirst quenching qualities.

DR. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Fields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. "I suffered for four years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit to you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 Ames Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills known of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (Confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

For More Than Year Escaped Capture; Man Caught Here

The long arm of the law reached out and Richard Cramer yesterday killed him here after more than a year's escape. Cramer had been arrested with theft of a horse in Frisco, Tex., during which he made so many moves that he fancied himself secure. Besides traveling across the country several times from different directions, Cramer had enlisted in the United States navy, under an assumed name, but was discharged before he ever sailed. Patrolman Al Tilley made the arrest.

A Good Saleman. "What?" cried the careful housewife, who charged me $1 a bushel for these potatoes. "Yes, madam," answered the polite dealer. "That is the very lowest price I can sell them for. How do you like them? I can get them from the grower for 90 cents, then?" "I cannot say, madam. Perhaps Mr. Brown has taken a fancy to you. He is a shrewd and you are beautiful. Unfortunately, yes, in $1."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ALVARADO MAN RESTORED BY WONDERFUL REMEDY

Gets Appetite and Comfort Back After Taking First Dose.

T. A. Hensley of Alvarado, Tex., suffered for a long time from derangement of the digestive tract. He had colic attacks and indigestion. His liver was inactive and he was in pain after eating.

He took May's Wonderful Remedy. From the very first dose it brought swift results. He wrote: "I have taken your treatment for stomach trouble and consider it a Godsend to suffering humanity. I have been suffering from stomach troubles for a long time, such as colic attacks, bloating after eating, sick spells, indigestion, constipation and whatever you like. Now I do not feel like the same man. I can cheerfully commend this remedy to all stomach sufferers."

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY CLOSES THIS WEEK

SEVENTIETH COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM WILL BEGIN ON FRIDAY NIGHT.

ALMOST A HUNDRED WIN "B"

Summer Quarter Starts in Near Future—Many Student Activities.

With the regular final examinations closing this year's work and the preparations for the seventieth commencement this will be a strenuous week at Baylor university. Examinations for both the college and academy courses will begin Tuesday afternoon and last until Friday afternoon. Closing lectures in the courses will be given tomorrow. The usual student activities are discontinued during examination week.

The first event of commencement week will take place Friday night, when the Baylor Symphony orchestra will give a concert in Carroll chapel. From then until the following Wednesday at noon Baylor will be in a gay mood with some six musical features, campus receptions, class and society exercises, reunions and celebrations. This will be intermingled with the various features of the special days. The program for Saturday features intersociety exercises and the June debate; Sunday, the commencement sermon in the morning, and evening address to Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. by Dr. W. J. McGlothlin of Louisville, Ky., and the sacred choruses; Monday, society reunions, concerts and receptions; Tuesday, Alumni day, and Wednesday, commencement day.

Summer Quarter Soon. On the following Monday after commencement week, the twenty-sixth summer quarter of Baylor will begin and continue until Sept. 4. In the summer term, with a few changes in the faculty, the regular work of the university will be carried on. The two series of teachers' normals of Baylor will be in progress practically simultaneously with the university courses. The first normal series begins June 14, with the examinations closing on July 26. The second series commences July 26 and lasts until Sept. 4.

The summer sessions of Baylor have proven very successful, and the faculty anticipates a large attendance this year. Last year the summer school enrolled 605 students. The fact that this session offers a special boon to the teachers of the state is shown by the fact that of the total enrollment of students, 229 were teachers.

The Baylor catalog for the university, a good-sized book of 169 pages, containing the announcements for the next year, came off the press last week and is now being distributed. Among several slight changes in the curriculum for next year, the catalog announces the awarding of a degree, the Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Theology, to the benefit especially of young ministers who wish to do their major work toward graduation in the department of English Bible.

Many "Bs" Awarded. Practically a hundred Baylor students have won the much coveted "Varsity" "B" this year for proficiency in athletics, journalism and oratory. The list includes twenty-five letters to young women for gymnasium work and ability as journalists. This is the largest number ever awarded in a single year at Baylor.

This is the first year that the "B" has been awarded to writers and orators, and the manner of wearing this letter in distinction to the felt athletic letter will be in the form of a gold, silver or bronze ring. The difference in the metals of the pin distinguishes the editor and manager, the associate editors and the reporters.

With the exception of the tennis "Bs," which have not yet been conferred, the complete list of wearers of the letter this year, as given out by the Students' association last week, is as follows:

Baseball—J. N. Mendenhall, G. J. Crosslin, H. V. Stanton, M. W. Miller, Herman Olenbush, L. W. Roach, C. M. Hubby Jr., H. F. Sanderford, S. R. Farrington, J. K. Henry, Frank Sope (manager), B. D. Alexander, T. J. Harrell.

Track—J. D. Isaacks, R. M. Porter, J. H. Caskey, U. L. Robertson Jr., B. M. Williams, J. C. Penrod.

Football—J. D. Isaacks, L. Roach, J. Roach, Charles Fanning, A. A. Berry, Harry Niero, F. H. Mansell, Clyde Turner, G. H. Jones, Guy Cross, H. V. Stanton, T. Mitchell, Jack Norris, Theron Fouts, S. Leach, J. E. Williamson, J. B. Reid, Frank Sope, C. C. Hooper, J. E. Burkhardt (manager).

ROBERTS RESIGNS AS BANK EXAMINER

WILL ACCEPT POSITION WITH WEST TEXAS BANK AND TRUST CO.

Patterson Regrets Loss of Services. Review of Work Done by Him.

Austin, Tex., May 29.—L. K. Roberts, state bank examiner, has tendered his resignation, effective June 1, to accept the position as cashier and director of the West Texas Bank and Trust company of San Antonio, one of the largest state banks in Texas. Mr. Roberts spent two years in the department at Austin under Commissioner Gill, and upon Mr. Gill leaving the office he was appointed Mr. Roberts as special examiner, which place he retained through the administration of Commissioner Collier and was re-appointed by Commissioner Patterson. He has been regarded by the commissioners as one of the most efficient men on the force, and he was tendered an attractive position in St. Louis and a bank examiner's position. Commissioner Patterson has succeeded in having created in his department the position of deputy bank commissioner, and has expressed his intention of appointing to this place one of his many efficient bank examiners. It was thought by many that Mr. Roberts would have been tendered this position had he remained with the department. Mr. Patterson, when seen this morning said:

"The state banks of Texas can ill afford to lose the services of Mr. Roberts, and while I have no disposition to retard the progress of any man, and I congratulate Mr. Roberts on this good fortune, I regret that this department must lose his services. He is one of the very best examiners that has ever been upon the force. I doubt that there is a more efficient bank examiner in this state or any other. He has saved several banks in this state from failure and placed them upon a sound financial footing. He is a splendid judge of human nature, a good accountant, an untiring worker, and an accurate judge in estimating the value of credits, all of which goes to the worth of a bank examiner."

"During my term of office, which is not yet four months old, this department has lost by resignation four valuable men, viz: Z. D. Bonner, chief clerk, who accepted the position of assistant cashier with the Citizens Bank and Trust company of San Antonio; C. F. Goodenough Jr., who is now cashier of the Alice State bank of Alice; W. H. Leftwich, who is now assistant cashier of the Citizens State bank and Trust company of Dallas; and L. K. Roberts, who comes about by rotation to the department. The services of these men to the state is a great loss. The department has several good ones left, but I refuse to give the names."

Charles O. Austin of San Antonio has been appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Roberts, effective July 1.

Panama Canal Model to Be at Sangers Starting Tomorrow

Lecturers Will Explain "Eighth Wonder of the World" Twice Each Day.

The electrically working model of the world-famous Panama canal and the Canal Zone will be ready for the first lecture tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The exhibit will be so arranged as to be easy of access, as well as a most comfortable place in which to listen to the lectures. Sanger Bros. have asked all those who attend the exhibit to take the elevators to the second floor from where they will be directed to the exhibition room.

A. C. Hallgren and J. A. Bahr are the lecturers who will be in charge of the exhibit. The first lecture will be given at 2 o'clock and one will be given every half hour thereafter. Tuesday morning the lectures will begin at 10 o'clock and so on throughout the entire week.

The exhibit and the lectures are absolutely free and Sanger Bros. extend an invitation to all to attend the exhibit as well as the lectures.

Some New Books at Public Library

Among the new books at the Waco public library are the following:

Boyd, William.—"From Locke to Montessori."

"As a critical analysis of the educational processes of three centuries, the book possesses undoubted merit; as an argument against the Montessori system it is not of much value."—Boston Transcript.

Ives, George.—"A History of Penal Methods."

"This work is the outcome of twenty years of study; is a critical and historical study of penal systems of all countries and ages. It deals, however, less with theories than with facts. * * * It discusses persecutions, courts of law, life sentences, outlawry, exile, suicides and the treatment of the insane."—Athenium.

Macdowell, John de Courcy.—"Belgium, Her Kings, Kingdom and People."

"From twelve years' residence in Brussels and exceptional opportunities of access to public and private records and to people of all ranks, the author has written a well informed, readable study of Belgium's history, people, trade, art and literature, and foreign relations."—A. L. A. Book List.

Ris, Jacob.—"Neighbors."

"True stories, tragic for the most part, told by one who, out of his experience, has seen the humaneness and fineness in 'folks' who live around the corner to see them, too."—Outlook.

Villard, O. S.—"Germany Embattled."

"One of the few most admirable books dealing with the war out of the scores already published."—Springfield Republican.

Zweifel, Stefan.—"Emile Verhaeren."

Verhaeren is a living Belgian poet and this translation from a work by a German author is the first notice accorded him in England and America.

Program for Week.

Sunday—"Blue Blood and Yellow," seventh complete moving picture novel in the "Who Pays?" series with Ruth Roland and Henry King. "His New Job," two reel Essanay with Charles Chaplin.

Monday—"His New Job," two reel Essanay with Charles Chaplin. "God's Witness," four part Mutual Masterpicture with Florence LaBadie.

Tuesday—"God's Witness," four part Mutual Masterpicture with Florence LaBadie.

Wednesday and Thursday—"Ghosts," five part Mutual Masterpicture with Henry Walthall and Thomas Jefferson.

Friday and Saturday—"The Lonesome Heart," four part Mutual Masterpicture with Margarita Fischer and Robyn Adair.

Hippodrome Gets New Organist.

Matthew H. Slater, who will be in charge of the organ solos and accompaniments, beginning today, comes here direct from Dallas, where it is claimed he scored a sensation for his marvelous technique and thorough understanding of what is needed in music for a picture theater.

Mr. Slater is one of the best known organists and musical directors in the states, being a graduate from the J. W. Johnston Conservatory of Music and who has added the experience gleaned from twenty years in the leading churches and opera companies.

He has studied the organ with three of the best known instructors on either side of the Atlantic, being Allan Lindsay, Irving Hyatt and Dr. J. Alfred Jeffrey.

Though Professor Slater is still a young man he graduated twenty years ago. The thirteen years following he spent as organist and choir master at the Trinity church, Troy, New York, "The Parlor City." The two years following he spent at Christ church, Binghamton, New York, and five years at St. Clements church, Brooklyn. It was while playing in Brooklyn that the Shuberts, famous theatrical magnates, got interested in the musician. He afterwards became musical director for various Shubert enterprises, coming south with "Dr. De Luxe." The company became stranded in Texas, after having played Waco and other cities. He then joined the Hulsey forces, having worked in Houston and Dallas at the Queen theaters, and is considered by the general manager of the Hulsey chain of theaters to be the crack organist of the circuit.

Waco music lovers may justly feel proud of the musician who is to entertain them and of the management whose generosity has sent him here when he is in demand in all the towns where Hulsey operates.

Charles Chaplin at Hippodrome Today. There is news in the advance notice sent out from the Hippodrome regarding features at that theater this week, the summary of which includes some information that will be welcome to all theater goers.

Prof. Matthew H. Slater, the new organist, begins work today. Charles Chaplin returns today and tomorrow in his greatest comedy creation, "His New Job." "Blue Blood and Yellow" is the new feature in the "Who Pays?" series showing today only, and "God's Witness," here Tuesday, is the first Thanhouse Mutual Masterpicture directed by Thanhouse himself, and featuring Florence LaBadie, the lovable star of "The Million Dollar Mystery," and also David Griffith's first Mutual Masterpicture, "Ghosts," coming Wednesday and Thursday is said to mark the triumph of the moving picture over the speaking stage, the film featuring Henry Walthall, the world's greatest moving picture actor; "A Lonesome Heart," here the last two days of the week, featuring Margarita Fischer, remembered here best for her role in the first of the Mutual Masterpictures, "The Quest," but here is the advance notice. You may read the details for yourself, which follow:

"His New Job."

Charles Chaplin, who returns to the Hippodrome screen today in his first Essanay comedy and what is probably his funniest characterization with any company, is back on the screen, but his popularity as a comedian has been so great that it seems a perfectly safe statement to remark that today he is drawing a larger salary than any man working before the camera.

"His New Job" was made without a scenario and is a burlesque on how he became an Essanay comedian. The film shows how he reports at the offices of the moving picture company, in the most awkward fashion imaginable, applies for the position and is given a try-out. The fun begins when the picture begins. It gets funnier as the picture continues, the ensuing incidents being of a screaming nature, showing the famous comedian in Francis X. Bushman's uniform when he appeared as the Prince of Graustark. In this make-up, the comedian walks in smoking a cigarette, and kneels on the famous stairway in the scene from "Romance and Juliet." He kneels comfortably rather than climb the balcony as the original Romeo did, and while kneeling there, comes the funniest situation in the comedy. While in the middle of his ardent love scene, the heroine, who has decided not to accept him, leaves him in what appears at first to be the most graceful manner, but then comes the riot.

"Blue Blood and Yellow."

"Blue Blood and Yellow," the seventh complete moving picture drama of twelve vital questions of life in the "Who Pays?" series, suggested from stories appearing in last week's Times-Herald, is a tale of a girl who idolized aristocracy and how she found her golden idol to have clay feet. Also of a young man whose blue blood was tinged with ochre, and of another who studied the stars and learned of hell.

Anita Logan, a wealthy heiress, has an ingrown superstition with regard to the worth of blue blood. Alfred Scott, an aristocratic idler, has an ingrown conviction of the worth of gold dollars and is prouder of his ancestors than they ever could be of him. A young student also loves her, but she chooses the blue blood.

In a complicated series of events, she learns of her great mistake, too late. The young student never knows the fulfillment of his love, and the family tree which she expected so much of, bore bitter fruit.

"God's Witness."

Edwig Thanhouse presents his first offering on the Mutual Masterpictures program at the Hippodrome tomorrow and Tuesday. It is "God's Witness," an adaptation of Augusta Evans Wilson's famous novel, "At the Mercy of Tiberius."

Not since "The Million Dollar Mystery" has Florence LaBadie, the adorable Mutual star, been seen in so appealing a role as that of the granddaughter in "God's Witness."

The male stars are Harris Gordon, Arthur Baur and Morris Foster. The Thanhouse resources have been strained to accomplish the best effects in settings and dramatic values, in which it is said the result compels his conservative pride to give way to elation for "God's Witness" has surpassed all aims and expectations of the producers. It is claimed that the drama is a distinct departure from the prevalent conception of multi-reel requirements. Its tone is high, its appeal convincing, its types true and it moves naturally, smoothly and unerringly to a terrifically tense emotional climax. It is claimed that wherever human hearts throb with tempest and sunshine of existence, there will "God's Witness" find enthusiastic approval.

"Ghosts."

The reputation built up on Henry Walthall's performance in the Griffith picture, "The Birth of a Nation," is as nothing to that which will come to rest upon his shoulders after the general public has seen his soul-stirring performance as Oswald in "Ghosts," the David Griffith five part Mutual Masterpicture, founded on Ibsen's play, showing at the Hippodrome Wednesday and Thursday.

In the manner of an exhortation against vice the film is intended to begin where the play left off. The fact that the picture is said to mark an epoch in the motion picture art and to have registered the accomplishment of the impossible is in part attributed to the illuminating power of Walthall's acting, plus the support of Thomas Jefferson, both under the supervision of Griffith, the mastermind of the movies.

It is claimed that nothing so compellingly epochal has been done in moving pictures. According to a press notice, readers, authors, editors and motion picture men who have seen the film "Ghosts," as adapted from Ibsen's unforgettable drama, these men being schooled as they are in the use of praise and blame, found themselves suddenly speechless with admiration.

According to the management, the
